

Racial Rioting Exposes U.S. Military Weaknesses

By HANSON W. BALDWIN

WASHINGTON—The widespread racial rioting in American cities has exposed two military weaknesses and has cast doubt on some of the Pentagon's policies, some officers say. The commitment of two brigades of the 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions to Detroit emphasized what many in the Pentagon believe is the dangerously depleted state of the nation's strategic reserve of ready ground combat units.

The 82nd Division is described by both congressional and Pentagon sources as the only full strength division remaining in the U.S., that is considered adequately trained and approximately ready for deployment overseas. The dispatch of more than 450,000 troops to Vietnam, and the attempt to maintain them there, without calling up reserves on the basis of a one-year tour of duty in Vietnam and a two-year draft system, have reduced the strength and readiness of the so-called strategic reserve in the U.S. to a low state.

Most of the units in the country have been engaged in a constant training cycle, supplying replacements or levies for Vietnam.

The two units sent to Detroit were drawn from the two divisions in the U.S. that were closer to combat readiness than any other units. The 101st has one brigade in Vietnam and only two brigades in the U.S., one of them in Detroit, and it is still providing cadres or drafts for Vietnam. The 82nd Division, which participated in the Dominican policing action, is earmarked as a quick reaction force for use primarily in the hemisphere, but also available for emergency commitment anywhere in the world. Both divisions have experienced considerable personnel turnover, the 82nd less so than the 101st.

One other army division in the U.S., the Fifth Mechanized Infantry Division, has been training replacements and providing levies for Vietnam and is partially trained.

Two armored divisions, the 1st and 2nd at Fort Hood, Texas, have been training replacements for Vietnam, and recently provided the cadre for the newly formed 198th Infantry Brigade, which is scheduled for deployment to Vietnam soon.

Part of the newly formed 5th Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif., is already in Vietnam, and the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, N.C., supports two ready battalions aboard amphibious ships—one in the Mediterranean and one in the Caribbean—and has been in a constant state of what the services call personnel "turbulence"—supply levies and replacements to Vietnam.

However, defense officials pointed out that there were many smaller units, such as the two battalions of Infantry at Fort Myers, Va., near Washington, that could be used in domestic emergencies, even though many of them are not fully trained or equipped for overseas duties. Defense officials added, in answer to questions, that they felt confident the troops available "could handle the situation if two or three Detroitis occurred simultaneously."

Uniformed officers, however, feel that the nonmobilization Vietnam policy has spread U.S. troop strength so thin that, as one put it, "we are witnessing the incongruous spectacle of committing a portion of the only ready division in the nation's strategic reserve—earmarked for overseas emergencies—to domestic crises."

The second weakness that concerns officers deals with the National Guard. National Guard units have both a state and a federal responsibility. The primary state mission is readiness for domestic crises, and riot control tactics and techniques are supposed to be emphasized. But regular officers and even National Guard officers have not been impressed by the performance of Guard units in Newark and in Detroit. They compare them unfavorably with the effectiveness of the 33rd Illinois National Guard Division in the Chicago troubles last summer.

WARREN COUNTY

Much interest is being created over the number of Warren Countymen who may be tossing their hats into the political ring in search of the vacant seat left in the state Assembly by the death of William C. Fuellhart of Warren.

Frank Fago, ex-chairman of the Warren County Democratic Committee, takes over as acting postmaster of the Warren Post Office. Francis DeLong, former assistant PM and acting PM for the past year and a half, goes back to his former post in the "political plum" maneuver.

Sheffield firemen today promise 70 entries in a seven-division parade and a top-notch tournament of drums for the fifth consecutive year.

THE NATION

Cov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, named by President Johnson to head the new advisory commission on civil disorders, pledged to hear both sides and overlook nothing "in our investigation of the sadness of our time." He called the first meeting for today in Washington and said he hoped to complete the commission's report by Jan. 1.

There was the first withdrawal of military and police forces patrolling the riot-racked city of Detroit. However, a curfew and ban on liquor sales remained in effect for the weekend. Some sniping and fires continued, but they were decreasing.

THE WORLD

Israeli authorities are preparing to tighten their administration of the Gaza Strip and the west bank of the Jordan. The decision was made in response to growing opposition and civil disobedience in the areas captured from the Arabs.

The Soviet Union remains determined to prevent a resumption of fighting in the Middle East, according to the view of senior diplomats in Moscow. Soviet military assistance to the Arabs is said to be aimed at restoring the balance of power, rather than at encouraging a resumption of hostilities.

SPORTS

Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy of Football, has announced that he will not join the New Orleans Saints. A quick end was brought to his career by a back injury, if he would have continued to play he would have to risk permanent damage. Page A6.

70 Entries in Firemen's Parade at Sheffield Today

The Sheffield Fire Department's 70th annual "Tournament of Drums" parade and competition today will be one of the largest parades in northwestern Pennsylvania this year. There are over 70 entries in the seven divisions.

There are 30 crack marching units in the parade, 15 floats, 18 fire departments, five celebrities and other attractions.

Drum and Bugle Corps and other marching groups come from as far away as Montreal, Canada.

Doris Ann Lausch, "Miss Pennsylvania for 1967," and Suzette Johnson, "Miss Warren County and her court" will be headliners. Also "Miss Jerry" a mystery movie-TV star, and others, will be in the limelight.

Contestants in the parade and drill competition are Champion Marion Cadets, the 101 member junior corps from Marion, Ohio; Vacationland Sweethearts, Clinton, Ohio; Twin City Imperials, Franklin, Ohio; Caballeros of Greater Cleveland; and "Les Senoritas" all girl drum and bugle corps, international champions from Quebec, Canada.

Sheffield Twirlettes and the all-girl Junior Catholic Daughters of America Drum and Bugle Corps of Butler will give exhibition performances on the field, as well as participate in the parade.

Other marching units include Sheffield Junior Twirlettes, Bakerettes Twirling Corps, Old City, Roller-Aires, Franklin; Greenwood Robinettes, Butler; Rouseville Red Raiders twirling corps; Eisenhower High School "Lancers" drill team; Millcreek Kilties, Millcreek, Pa.; West Ridge Majorettes, Erie; Drake Drillers, Titusville; Flames Twirling Corps, Flickers Twirling Corps and Fire Dept. "Burnouts" from North Washington, Pa. and North Washington Rodeo Queen; Legionettes Drill Team, Apollo, Pa.; DeMolay Drill Team, Erie; Candy Canes twirling corps, Clarendon; New Sportsmen's Drum Corps; Rainbow Assembly No. 20, North East, Pa.; All American Majorettes Senior Corps, Junior Corps and Mascots, Old City; and Puritan Motorcycle Club, St. Mary's.

Parade begins precisely at 3 p.m. opposite the American Legion Home on Main st., near Route 6 junction. Seven divisions will march without delays between them.

The Tournament of Drums contest on the Sheffield High School athletic field and Memorial playground begins promptly at 6 p.m. Nearly a thousand reserved seats are available.

Sen. Clark's Wife Files For Divorce

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Noel Clark, wife of Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., filed suit here for divorce yesterday.

The action came just one year after the senator's Washington office announced the couple had separated but there were no plans for divorce.

The suit charged Clark with "indignities to the person."

Mrs. Clark's attorney, Philip H. Strubing issued a statement in her behalf after his filed the suit.

It said in part: "more than a year ago, my husband told me he was leaving me and that he wished me to divorce him. I did not grant his request as I had been happily married for more than 30 years...with no reconciliation in sight" she said she is seeking divorce.

Fago Takes Over as Acting Postmaster

Frank Fago, a former chairman of the Warren County Democratic Party, yesterday assumed duties as acting postmaster.

Fago, whose name has been submitted for recommendation by the White House for permanent appointment to the position, was in the Post Office yesterday with two postal inspectors from Erie.

F.R. Filburn, one of the postal inspectors, said Fago was to assume the acting postmaster's position "at the close of business" yesterday.

He replaces Francis DeLong, who has been acting postmaster since Bruce Knabenshue retired as the Warren postmaster in December, 1965. DeLong was assistant postmaster when Knabenshue retired, and he resumes his duties in that position.

Fago was the number one candidate for the post after Civil Service examinations were administered and local recommendations were made. He has been an auditor for the State Liquor Control Board.

RING BEING FILLED WITH HATS

Who Is Going to Replace Bill Fuellhart?

By BETTY RICE

There is considerable interest as to who and how many may be considering tossing their hats in the political ring to seek party nomination for the now vacant seat in the General Assembly as far as Warren and Forest counties are concerned.

At the meeting of the Warren County Republican Committee July 10, several names were mentioned as candidates who might be interested in representing the two-county area.

Warren County's chief clerk William W. Allen of Tidoute has written a letter to all committee members stating he is seeking the seat vacated by the death of William C. Fuellhart.

Allen spent 19 years with Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. in various capacities including managerial duties. He is a licensed insurance agent and has been in county government for 11 years.

The Tidoute man is serving on the governor's committee on election studies and for the last eight years has served as secretary-treasurer of the Northwest District Pennsylvania County Commissioners Association.

Allen said he feels he has a working knowledge of county affairs, is well versed in taxation and assessment measures and had intended to be a candidate in next spring's primary election had the late Mr. Fuellhart not run for re-election.

Other names presented to the county committee were Robert J. Kus-e of Kusse Pontiac, Cadillac. Kusse was out of town yesterday and could not be contacted. It is understood, however, from informed sources, that he is seriously planning to campaign. Kusse won the Republican nomination for supervisor in Conewango township last spring.

The names of James N. Francis and Walter MacMillan were also mentioned as being possibly interested. Neither could be reached yesterday. MacMillan formerly served with the Warren borough police department and is currently a deputy sheriff of Warren County.

W. Robert Walsh, former editor of the Warren County Observer who lost in a close race for the Republican nomination for county commissioner last spring, was also among those mentioned.

Several interested persons are urging Walsh for the assembly and may undertake to run him for the office. Walsh has indicated interest but stated he could not possibly undertake another campaign on his own due to increased pressures of an expanding new business. Still another possible candidate was Mayor D. E. Conway. The mayor said yesterday that if his name was presented to the committee he had no idea as to who may have spoken for him. "I have not indicated any interest in the job whatsoever," Conway said.

The committee was also told that Joseph H. Goldstein appeared to be interested in a return to Harrisburg. The Warren attorney, a former district attorney, represented Warren County in the assembly to fill the unexpired term of the late Allen M. Gibson and a second full term of his own. He was defeated during the Johnson landslide in the county by Thomas J. Donnelly, a Democrat, who lost to Bill Fuellhart.

William F. Clinger Jr., one of the strong Republican leaders and a member of the GOP executive committee, has been urged to announce his candidacy. To date the local attorney has withstood the pressure and stated he did not feel this was the time for him to run since his children are young.

Some rumored to be candidates said they would prefer to wait until formal announcements to the county committee had been made by them.

3 From Warren County Killed In Head-on Crash

Sudden death last night came to three Scandia area residents and injuries to three more as the result of a head-on accident on Route 60 near Gerry, N.Y. The mishap took place about 8:30 o'clock.

At press time details of the incident were sketchy as the investigation was still being conducted and relatives being notified. The Jamestown General Hospital received five of the six victims. Pronounced dead on arrival there were John F. Gailey of R.D. 1 Russell and a Mrs. Gailey, who authorities believed was the mother of John Gailey. Pronounced dead on arrival at Jamestown W.C.A. Hospital was a person identified by officials as Edward Anderson, also of R.D. 1 Russell.

Admitted to Jamestown General Hospital were Veronica Gailey reportedly the wife of John Gailey, with lacerations and first and second degree burns; and Ronald and Sylvia Smeltzer of the same address, believed by hospital authorities to be husband and wife. Ronald suffered facial lacerations and multiple fractures and Sylvia sustained multiple lacerations and fractures. All three survivors were listed in fair condition at 1:00 this morning.

Kerner Promises Riot Probe

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

CHICAGO Gov. Otto Kerner pledged yesterday that the 11-member presidential commission to investigate urban rioting would conduct a thorough study, hear both sides and offer recommendations by Jan. 1.

The soft-spoken Illinois Democrat said the panel would meet in Washington today to begin "a task that is profound as the ideal of democracy itself."

Kerner was named Thursday night by President Johnson to head the commission. The 58-year-old governor called it the "saddest mission" of his career.

What the commission is charged with asking, he said, is "why one American assaults another American, why violence is inflicted on people of our cities, why the march to an ideal America has been interrupted by bloodshed and destruction."

The governor spoke at a news conference and at a luncheon of the Hyde Park-Kenwood community conference, both in the Ambassador Hotel.

He said the President had told him that the full resources of the government would be at the disposal of the commission. He added that it was important as well that the full resources of the government be available "to wage war against poverty and discrimination."

"There must be no holds barred in this war," he told the neighborhood organization.

At the news conference, Kerner said he hoped to be present at "every single one" of the riot commission hearings.

He said he had not met the vice chairman of the commission, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, but said that all the members of the panel he knew were "able and responsible people."

The two-term governor has a long record of efforts to achieve more liberal civil rights legislation, as well as a record of pioneering in crowd-control training as a high-ranking officer of the Illinois National Guard.

As governor, he called out the guard to quell disturbances in Chicago last summer and the summer before. Last week he

Lady Candidate Confident

CORBIN CITY, N.J. (AP)—The gray-haired woman leaned forward in the rocker and said with a chuckle: "If I'm not elected it will be the biggest upset hereabouts."

Thus Mrs. Lillian G. Gandy assessed her prospects of winning an 11th straight four-year term as tax collector of Corbin City—at the age of 93.

Mrs. Gandy doesn't campaign. "The folks know I'm here, I haven't had any opposition since the 1930's."

So far, she doesn't have any opposition this time either, but she points out that someone could challenge her in the primary to nominate candidates for next November's election.

Even if she should be defeated, Mrs. Gandy won't lack a job. In addition to being tax collector, she holds the appointive custodian of school funds.

A lifelong Republican Mrs. Gandy takes a dim view of modern politicians: "I don't think they're as honest as they used to be."

Corbin City, a rural community 30 miles west of Atlantic City, has a population of 273, including 200 registered voters, virtually all Republicans.

Mrs. Gandy has lived alone since the death of her husband, Frank, in 1960. Gandy, a carpenter, served Corbin City 35 years, as mayor and as a city councilman. They had no children.

Mrs. Gandy still does her own housekeeping, cooking and shopping. She attends the First Baptist Church every Sunday as she has since she moved here from Fostoria, Ohio, her birth place in 1907.

Weak

That division, which acted under tactical control of its division commander, saturated the area with overwhelming force early in the disturbances and quickly ended them. Officers believe that in the current troubles in both Newark and Detroit the Guard has been hampered by lack of a clear-cut military chain of command, too many bosses, the early indecisiveness of civilian political officers, and that its units were committed "too little and too late."

Regular officers point out that the Guard's personnel and their morale have been affected, by the same personnel "turmoil" that has hurt the regulars but in large part for a different reason. Since Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara took office, the guard has been under almost constant reorganization, with units and troop strengths changed, and with the federal mission of the guard—preparation of a ready combat force to support the regular army in Vietnam or other overseas emergencies—emphasized. The domestic mission—training to cope with civil disturbances—appears to have been somewhat subordinated, particularly in some units.

McNamara's latest reserve plan, recently presented to Congress, will eventually eliminate some 15 Guard divisions and other units, and reduces the National Guard to eight divisions and 18 brigades, plus smaller supporting units, plus three combat brigades and supporting units in the Army Reserve. This program is said to be in accordance with the Joint Chiefs of Staff estimate of the reserve forces required to bolster the regulars in accordance with strategic contingency plans.

However, these plans are tailored primarily to overseas emergencies, and some officers have long felt that larger Guard units than those provided for in the new reorganization plan were required if the Guard is to fulfill its domestic as well as its overseas missions.

Tourists visiting the area have the option of visiting Kinzua Dam by the back door. This sign is at the entrance to Frewsburg, N.Y., which claims to be the main point on the map for dam sights. Frewsburg is 23 miles by road from the dam—through Warren, which is nine miles from the dam.

Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau Plans Permanent Quarters

The recently formed Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau took steps toward a permanent headquarters on Market street during a meeting of the group this week.

The new office will be located at 305 Market street in a building formerly occupied by the late Dr. Robert Gibb and moved to its present site. Bureau chairman, Robert C. Dilks, said, "The location provides adequate space for the rapidly expanding program of the new organization and will be readily accessible to the public and the tourists who visit the area." The group intends to be in the new facility by September 1.

During the meeting the Bureau voted to join other tourist promotion agencies in the state in urging the state legislature to approve a larger Tourist Promotion Matching Fund appropriation for 1967 and 1968. In the past year the local bureau received $2,452 in state matching funds, about half of the maximum allowed under a 1961 tourist promotion act. Tourist agencies hope a larger state appropriation will allow each county to receive maximum allocations in the coming year. The financial report of the Bureau, given by Henry Steadman, showed receipts of $11,902 so far this year from governmental grants and private contributions. A total of $8,746 has been spent thus far in promotional and planning activities.

D. H. Lay reported the group has reserved space for the 1968 Sportsman's and Vacation Show in Cleveland next March and an exhibit designed and built by a professional display firm would be ready in time to use at Cleveland and other shows in the area.

Ken Stratton told those attending the meeting that much historical information about Warren County has been prepared and sent to the University of North Carolina where the Institute of Outdoor Drama is assisting the local group to develop story possibilities for a historical drama project.

Congress May Get Tax Message

BY EDWIN L. DALE JR

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Indications mounted yesterday that President Johnson would send his tax-increase message to Congress early next week.

The contents of the message, and the President's specific proposals, remain a closely-held administration secret. However, the proposal is likely to be different from the simple six per cent surcharge on personal and corporate incomes suggested by the President in his basic program for the year last January.

First, the tax increase itself may be different from a straight six per cent. It could be a larger figure across the board, or it could be six per cent for individuals and a higher figure for corporations.

One report yesterday was that the President would ask for an increase of 8 per cent across the board, on corporations and individuals. Another was that he would ask for six per cent on each, effective Jan. 1, plus a 3 per cent surcharge affecting only corporations on their 1967 income. None of these reports could be verified.

Second, the message will contain more than a proposal for an income tax surcharge. It will probably also include some new decisions on cutbacks in government expenditures, defense and non-defense and a proposal regarding automobile and telephone excise taxes that are due to be reduced next April.

Information on the imminence of the President's message came from several reliable sources.

One major reason for "triggering" the tax increase now rather than later is to end uncertainty in the nation's financial markets. Interest rates on bonds in the markets have risen recently, in part from fear there would be no tax increase. Without a tax increase, the Treasury would be a larger borrower in the market, with corresponding upward pressure on interest rates.

Another reason for the timing is that the House Ways and Means Committee has all but finished action on the complex Social Security bill. Only when that bill has been cleared can the committee take up the tax legislation.

The National Association of Manufacturers issued a statement yesterday protesting reported administration plans to ask Congress for a higher surcharge against corporations than against individuals. Reports of this idea emphasized that it had not been finally decided upon.

"There is no justification for hitting business and industry harder," the NAM said in a statement issued in New York.

"A principal argument advanced to justify the unbalanced approach is that industry has already been favored by the (early) restoration of the investment credit last March. But this line of reasoning doesn't stand up. One could as easily contend that individuals should now pay more since, as a result of the 1964 rate reductions, they enjoyed an average cut approaching 20 per cent compared with a cut of less than 8 per cent for corporations."

Investigating the accident along with county coroner, Emmett Eckman, said the incident occurred about half way between Kimball's Stand and Gerry, N.Y., on Route 60. The Sheriff's office said the car the dead and injured were traveling in, a Corvair, was traveling North on 60. It was struck head-on by a southbound vehicle operated by a Lawrence LeRoy Keith, 27, of Smithville, Texas who was attempting to pass either a trailer truck or a bus.

When the cars met one of them burst into flames. Volunteer fire departments from Gerry and Fluvanna were called to the scene to extinguish the fire and free three of the victims pinned in the wreckage.

An observer at the scene reported the Keith car spun around in the road and came to a stop 40 yards from the scene of impact. Different sources stated Keith was uninjured and was not admitted at either of the two sent guardsmen to Cairo, Ill. "Use of the guard has become a part of law enforcement," he said yesterday.

Kerner, who is also a former judge, retired from the National Guard as a major general in 1954. About three years prior to that he instituted riot control training procedures for the Illinois guard.

He barred pre-judgment of participants in recent disturbances, but said "without hesitation" that "there is no room in America for any provocateurs who would wish to change the course of our democracy... aimed always at a harmonious society in which all people pursue happiness and freedom without sapping that same strength and purpose from his neighbor."

3 Americans Killed, 25 Wounded in Attack

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed a barrage of mortar and rocket fire on two U.S. Army bases 15 and 29 miles north of Saigon today, while to the north U.S. Marines probed the southern half of the demilitarized zone.

The Marines surged into the demilitarized zone yesterday seeking the North Vietnamese artillery and mortar positions that have menaced their forward posts. Marines roved through the southern half of the zone for 11 days in May.

In today's Viet Cong mortar and rocket attacks, three American soldiers were killed and 25 wounded, U.S. military headquarters reported.

The early morning shelling of the big Army helicopter base at Phu Loi 15 miles north of Saigon was one of the war's closest rocket attacks to the capital. The city has been hit by Viet Cong mortar and recoilless rifle fire.

(c) N.Y. Times News Service SAIGON—The loss of seven American war planes and a helicopter over North Vietnam was announced yesterday.

A military spokesman also said that United States Marines had advanced into the southern half of the demilitarized zone for the third time in the war. No contact with enemy units was reported during the first eight hours of the sweep.

The sweep's objective was to silence North Vietnamese artillery and mortar positions that have been bombarding Marine positions situated south of the demilitarized zone.

First reports indicated that the sweep was taking place northwest of the Marine base at Con Thien, and that the operation was on a much smaller scale than the Marines first foray into the zone on May 18.

One of the lost planes, an Air Force F-4 Phantom, was brought down Thursday over the southern panhandle of North Vietnam, the military spokesman said. Its two-man crew was listed as missing.

The loss of the other six aircraft first came to light with the weekly publication of cumulative loss figures, when the previously announced total of 617 was increased to 623 through this Tuesday. The loss of the Phantom brought the total number of planes lost to 624 since the beginning of the air war over North Vietnam in February, 1965.

A military spokesman declined to give any details on the loss of the other six planes—the dates and places at which they were brought down, the services to which they belonged, or the fate of their crews.

The helicopter, a Navy rescue craft which went down on July 1, was the seventh to be lost over the North. Its three-man crew was listed as missing, but once again, no additional details were provided.

In addition to air losses in the North, a total of 195 war planes have been lost to hostile action over the South. A total of 354 helicopters are listed as having been lost in combat, 347 in the South. The loss of another 590 is attributed to various nonhostile causes.

Israelis Prep to Tighten West Bank of Gaza Strip

By JAMES FERON
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
JERUSALEM—Israeli authorities are preparing to tighten their administration of the west bank and the Gaza Strip in response to growing opposition and civil disobedience in these areas.

The military government apparatus will be tightened in the occupied areas. Officials working there for Israeli ministries will report directly to the military authorities rather than their own ministries.

These and other plans were discussed at a special cabinet meeting Thursday, sources said.

One of the first actions to be taken in the west bank and "East Jerusalem," the former Jordanian sector now annexed by Israel, is to crack down sharply on persons encouraging incitement to civil disobedience.

According to one report, Arab officials who refuse to cooperate will be deposed since their refusal is now seen by the Israelis to be, in itself, an incitement.

The Israelis apparently have decided to differentiate, in their response to noncooperation, between those acts considered to be dangerous to military security and those restricted to civil liberties.

Tradersmen who refuse to open their shops, as was recently the case in Gaza, will not be forced to do so. According to one source, the same would apply to refusal to open local schools.

Claim De Gaulle's Trip Aimed to Aid Canadians

PARIS (AP) — Official sources said last night President Charles de Gaulle's trip to Canada was a deliberate attempt to aid French Canadians in their struggle for equality.

They brushed aside the rebuke of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson after De Gaulle in a speech at Montreal Monday appeared to give encourage-

The extent of anti-Israeli feeling was indicated in a report issued by the Histadrut, Israel's joint labor federation, that teachers in Nablus, a major town in the west bank, are threatening a school strike if their text books are replaced by the Israeli Education Ministry.

The books contain insulting cartoons of Jews, anti-Israel songs and other material regarded as defamatory by the Israelis. Israeli officials are preparing new texts for the September school opening.

Israeli leaders had started to work on interim administrative measures a few weeks ago but the mounting opposition in the occupied areas, which has included the distribution of anti-Israel pamphlets in the old city, has prompted a more urgent approach to the problem.

The first step to be taken will be the tightening of the military government authority. Some of its authority had been absorbed by the overlapping Israeli ministries.

It will also be made clear to Arab officials and notables that they are not "partners" to any negotiations with Israel concerning the political future of their areas.

Arab leaders in the west bank, meanwhile, are becoming more outspoken in their criticism of Israeli policy, especially in what they call a lack of clarity concerning their own future.

Arab leaders asked by the Israelis to cooperate are afraid of being called collaborators.

ment to French-Canadian separatists.

The officials said France will continue and enlarge its cooperation with the French Canadians, especially in the cultural field.

They said for several years there has been an extraordinary reawakening of the French Canadians and that it had been expected that De Gaulle's trip would be the occasion to publicize this.

These sources insisted that the Canadian authorities were aware of the situation, but insisted on De Gaulle visiting Canada.

The enthusiastic reception given De Gaulle in French Quebec was the most striking outcome of the trip, the officials said, and that under these conditions it is hard to understand talk of a "French diplomatic defeat."

The outline of the French official position was distributed by the French News Agency, the customary means of making known the government's views.

Woman Held For Shoplifting

A Warren woman is in the county jail after being apprehended and charged with shoplifting from the Cowdrick drug store on Liberty street about 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

Helen L. Baran of 304 Union street was sentenced to five days in the Warren County Jail by Justice of the Peace Martha Lawson, after she admitted to the theft of two articles from the local drug store. She took her jail sentence as she was unable to pay her fine.

The woman took a 12 inch niter box and a tire gauge, both valued at 85 cents, and fled from the store. Robert Ryklund, an employee in the store, saw the woman flee with the stolen items and pursued her into the street where he called borough police officer Kates who apprehended the shoplifter.

She admitted to the charges and began serving her sentence yesterday.

Fire at Airport

Engine Number 3 and the emergency truck of the borough fire department sped to the office of the Warren Airport at 2 a.m., yesterday where a davenport was on fire.

The firemen extinguished the smoldering blaze and ejected smoke from the office. The men and trucks returned to central station at 2:31 a.m. Although no immediate cause for the fire was known it was thought to have been caused by a cigarette or ashes from one.

Damages were confined to destruction of the davenport.

Negro Leaders Say Whites And Blacks Must Cooperate

By NAN ROBERTSON

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Two of the nation's foremost Negro leaders agreed yesterday that white Americans and black Americans must solve their problems together.

"White Americans and black Americans must realize the mutuality of their destinies," said the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "There can be no separate white path to power and fulfillment. We all need each other."

And Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said: "Regardless of all the shrill cries in the air, the truth is that we are all tied together. We're going to be here together, and we're not going to be at each other's throats every June, July and August forever."

In a panel discussion before a convention of the International Platform Association, both men together with Mayor Ivan

Allen Jr. of Atlanta, called for "massive" programs to wipe out slums and joblessness that would at least match what the U.S. is spending for Vietnam or even the smaller space program.

Allen suggested that the United States mount a "massive attack" on slums by spending $20 billion to $30 billion a year over the next five years for public housing and job training. "This country can well afford it," he said. "It's the very guts of the matter."

The government is officially spending $22 billion on Vietnam this year.

The topic of the panel was "what is the solution for race riots in our big cities?" The fourth panel member was comedian Dick Gregory, a militant activist in the civil rights movement.

King denounced the 90th Congress as a legislature that "loves rats more than people."

He spoke scornfully of the House members who last week ridiculed and defeated a $40 million administration bill to eradicate rats from slums. He accused Congress of systematically depriving poor Americans of hope by slashing such programs as rent supplements and model cities.

The civil rights leader added that "the long summers of riots have been caused by the long winters of delay" on programs of social justice and progress. He condemned riots as "self-defeating and socially destructive," but said those who deplore the frightful conditions in city slums that produced the violence.

Wilkins, who is a member of the president's special advisory commission investigating the recent racial eruptions, said that they "must have driven home to America an appalling awareness" of the resentment against the conditions ghetto dwellers are "forced to endure."

Not one of the panelists believed that "conspirators" from the outside caused the riots.

Youths in 'Dozens' Cause Racial Trouble in Peekskill

By MERRILL POLSON

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
PEEKSKILL, N.Y.—Groups of Negroes and Puerto Ricans ran through the downtown streets here early yesterday morning, smashing the windows of 44 stores and firing pellet guns at others.

Several false fire alarms were sounded but no fires occurred and no injuries were reported. Twenty-one persons were arrested.

The estimated 200 youths in a dozen groups awakened the city of 19,000 people and caused the police to send emergency calls for help to the Westchester County sheriff's office in White Plains and the county Parkway Police Department at Hawthorne.

While policemen were trying to round up one group of the youths, other groups a few blocks away continued the destruction. The disorder continued for three hours.

Dist. Atty Leonard Rubinfeld of Westchester County hurried to Peekskill with 40 deputy sheriffs and Parkway policemen. The local department has 42 men, but most of them were off duty.

City Clerk Alfred H. Miller said the violence was committed by "local teenagers on a rampage." All the damaged stores, he said, were operated by white persons but he knew of no grudges against any of them by Negroes. The Negro neighborhoods are largely on the edge of town, a half mile from the scene of the disturbance.

Looting occurred at several stores. Thefts were largely of radios, television sets, groceries and clothes.

City officials said there had been no major disagreements with the Negroes and Puerto Ricans here. School statistics indicate a nonwhite population of 20 per cent.

"I just can't understand it and neither can the city officials," Rubinfeld said. "An urban renewal program to provide better housing is under way. Negroes have been relocated, employment is good and the relationship between Negroes and whites has been excellent."

The 21 arrested included two white persons who were accused only of disobeying policemen. The ages of the defendants were from 15 to 26. Five were accused of disorderly conduct, unlawful assembly and malicious mischief consisting of smashing windows. The others were accused of unlawful assembly or failing to move along when ordered.

Arraigned in city court, all were remanded to the Westchester County jail at Eastview by Judge Norman R. Roskin. Bail at $1,000 each was set for five who had had no previous brushes with the police. None was able to post bail.

The police said that Anthony Savarise, 32, who had come

United Fund to Seek $166,000 in Warren Co.

The United Fund of Warren County, representing 10 health, welfare and youth organizations, will seek $166,000 this fall in its annual appeal for funds.

The goal was established by the UF board of directors after recommendation by the budget committee headed by Harold E. LaPoint.

At the same time, UF president Edward A. Ryberg appointed Donald H. Wischer as general chairman for the campaign and selected campaign dates of September 19 through October 24.

Last year's drive raised $149,000 and was the first campaign in the past five years which did not meet the goal. To reach the needed amount this fall a general increase of twelve per cent is required.

Before recommending the goal, the budget committee met with representatives of each member agency to review their budgets and their needs for the coming year.

Although the goal is an all-time high, it is still $14,000 less than the total requested by the ten UF agencies. But the goal is the minimum amount that will allow the agencies to continue their high level of service to Warren County.

Members of the UF budget committee included LaPoint, Robert C. Dilks, Bert Levinson, Charles Frantz, and John D. Haggerty, Jr.

Division chairmen are now being recruited and several hundred volunteers will be enrolled to reach every segment of the county, Wischer said.

Wischer came to Warren in 1962 and since then has been one of the most active volunteer leaders in the commu-

Withdraw Forces From Riot-Damaged Detroit

By JERRY M. FLINT

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
DETROIT — The first of the military and police forces patrolling riot-damaged Detroit were withdrawn yesterday as incidents of sniping and fires continued to decrease.

A curfew and a ban on liquor sales will remain in effect this weekend.

"It appears that the period of violence is substantially over," said Gov. George Romney.

Cyrus R. Vance, President Johnson's representative in Detroit, said that while sniping "is not out of the way," there may be some exaggeration in the amount.

He said that Thursday night there were 53 reports of sniping. But "this (Friday) morning after checking them out," he could find "only two formally confirmed as having actually taken place."

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh said that one report of sniping early yesterday morning turned out to be, according to reports from the police, National Guardsmen shooting out street lights.

The forces leaving yesterday included a 300-man unit of the state police and 600 to 800 members of the Michigan Air National Guard.

Army paratroops also are withdrawing from part of the area they have been guarding, including a district in downtown Detroit around police headquarters. They will be replaced in these sections by National Guardsmen.

There are 4,700 paratroops in the Detroit area. They patrol much of the city's east side, while 6,400 guardsmen, who have been federalized, patrol the west side.

Vance would not say when all the troops would be withdrawn but said that it would be "on a phased basis."

Romney said that the curfew, which has been in effect from 9 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. since Sunday, would stay in force last night and tonight. He said he would "review it" Sunday. The purpose of the curfew is to keep sightseers from the damaged area, he said. Sightseers are coming "from all over the state," and probably from out of state, too, to see the damage, the governor said.

The rioting, which began early Sunday, has cost 39 lives. The latest victim was John Leroy, a 30-year-old Negro who died yesterday morning. He said he had been shot by a National Guardsman while running a road block Tuesday morning.

The number of fires reported since the riots began stood at 1,442 yesterday afternoon. However, the reports of new fires were normal for the city, the police department said.

Property damage was estimated at $250 million yesterday by Charles J. Quinlan, Detroit's fire chief. The city's Board of Commerce estimated total riot losses, including the loss of retail sales to business and workers' wages at $500 million.

Some of the property looted on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday is still being recovered by the police.

It is estimated that more than $100,000 in loot has been recovered.

The police say that some of their information about looted articles comes from store owners. The proprietors, in turn, hear about the loot from Negro customers, who tell about items in the possession of other Negroes. Some of the merchandise still has price tags that will help in identifying owners, but unclaimed loot will be sold at auction.

People have been informing the police and newspapers that they have found loot in their yard or porch, or had it left by friends. They have said they wish to return it without being arrested.

Police believe some of the informants are looters suffering pangs of conscience or who fear arrest. The police are accepting returned goods without asking questions.

Mayor Cavanagh said the major effort in Detroit now was to return to a normal situation as soon as possible. Street lights in the riot areas are being repaired and "we hope to have as many on as possible," he said.

During the riot, most street lights in the combat zones, such as 12th street or Linwood avenue or Dexter avenue on the west side, were shot out. The streets are almost black at night and patrolling vehicles or cars with permission to move in the area drive with their lights out. This is to prevent snipers getting a target, but it also intensifies the riot atmosphere.

Cavanagh said he had asked Lieut. Gen. John L. Throckmorton, the commander of the military forces in the city, "to restrain the men from shooting out the lights."

The city also said it planned to turn some of the areas covered by burned-out buildings into small parks. About 80 small parks are being considered, with the work to begin in mid-August.

The first large-scale release of prisoners is about to begin, according to Judge Vincent Brennan, executive judge of Detroit's recorders court, which handles the riot cases. High bail bonds, up to $200,000, were set by recorders court judges for riot suspects. The bonds are being reviewed by the prosecutor's office. The high bonds had the effect of keeping the arrested persons off the street.

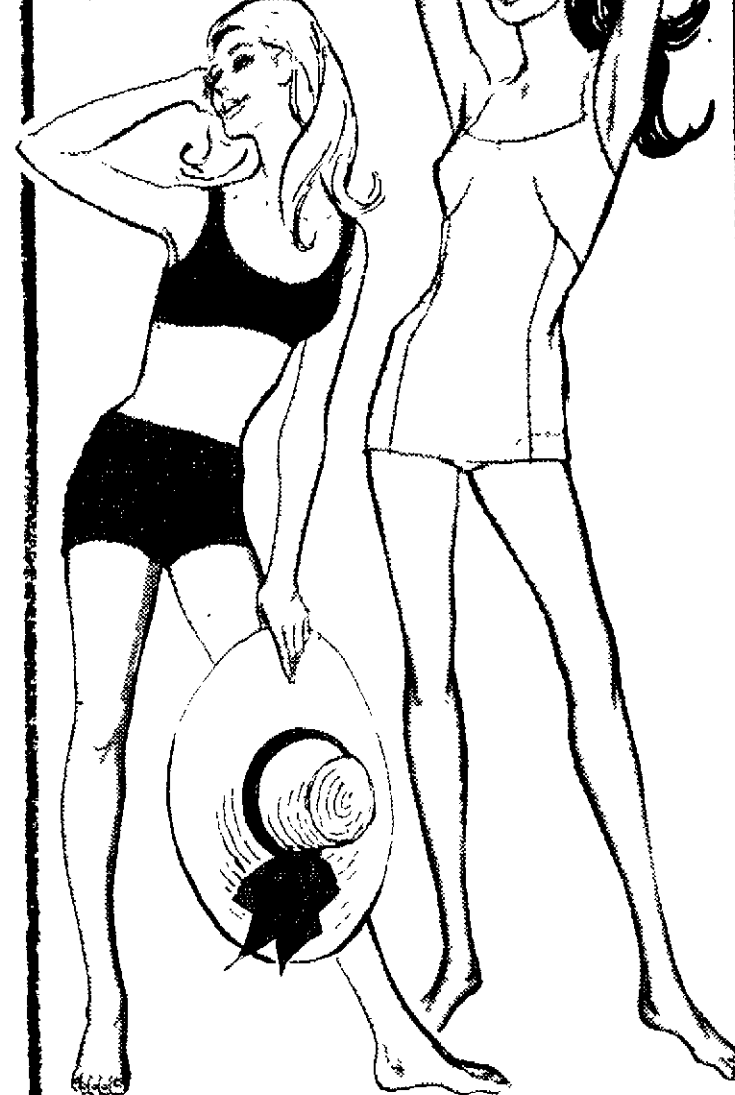

The bar associations were being asked to furnish lawyers for about 2,000 of the arrested who are too poor to hire lawyers, Brennan said.

The number of people left homeless by the riot is something over 500 families, according to city officials. Some homes were burned by fires that spread from stores. Apartments above stores were destroyed or, in some cases, shot up by police or National Guardsmen seeking snipers.

It's the 'Fat in the Fire'

CAUTION: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health. This is the warning that must be printed on every pack of cigarettes sold to America's millions of smokers as a cancer preventive measure.

It may not be too long before a similar warning will be required on every bag of charcoal sold to America's millions of outdoor cooking enthusiasts.

A recent release from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission states that steaks, fish, or other types of meat cooked over open charcoal fires also present a health hazard. The fat drips into the fire, is seared to smoke, and the smoke collects on the surface of the food.

A typical one-pound steak, cooked in this way, the release states, collects the same amount of Benzo-pyrene as contained in 600 cigarettes, and Benzo-pyrene has definitely been isolated as a cancer-causing compound. In addition, another dozen or so cancer-causing hydrocarbons will be present on the surface of the steak, making it plain foolish to eat food cooked in this manner.

But the release doesn't suggest that enthusiasts give up charcoal cooking. Instead, it suggests changes in the method that will eliminate the deposit of harmful hydrocar-

World is Not One, But Many

Is there a "solution" as some believe to world peace through the political influence of material power of the great powers? Could the great powers or one or two of the great powers possessing the will, put the world in order again?

The United Nations was formed by men who thought that the wartime alliance of Great Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States, and by courtesy of France and China would police the world in the future. This hope was dashed because Britain, France and China were not really great powers and because the Soviet Union and the United States became engaged in the cold war.

The original United Nations was inspired by the belief then held in the Western world that the United States, plus Winston Churchill's Great Britain, could compel the Soviet Union to cooperate in the government of the world. But Great Britain lost control of her empire, which became the theater of great disorders. The Soviet Union lost effective control over its satellite. The United States found itself unable to rule the world in Asia, Africa or South America.

Yet always the dream of world government by the great powers has haunted the foreign offices much as the ghost of the Roman Empire haunted the Middle Ages. The critical problem of the contemporary world is that we have not found any substitute for that ghost—for the memory of the imperial order in which the great powers once governed the world. The practical problem of our time is how, since the great powers cannot govern the world, they can co-exist with each other and with the anarchy of the small nations which have emerged from the ancient imperial order of the world.

That exceedingly discerning military thinker, Gen. Beaufre, wrote some time ago that the great powers with their nuclear weapons and their enormous economic resources no longer dare to make war against one another, and yet they are unable to make peace with one another.

Not only the Middle East and bombs on the food.

First, the meat shouldn't be started to cook until the burning charcoal has become a bed of white-hot coals. This allows the smoke to burn off before the cooking is started.

Second, don't allow the fat to drip on the coals. Use metal foil under the meat, or arrange for the fat to drip into a pan of water.

And thirdly, throw away any of the charred or blackened portions of the food as these are the portions of the food most highly contaminated.

Another preventive measure suggested by the release is the use of vertical charcoal broilers. With both the meat and the charcoal in a vertical position the dripping of fat on the fire is eliminated.

But charcoal should not be forced to shoulder all the blame for depositing cancer-producing hydrocarbons on the food we eat. Gas-fired outdoor cookers and kitchen ovens can be just as guilty if the fat is allowed to drip into the flame.

It's the "fat in the fire" that's the real culprit.

By keeping the fat out of the fire we can have grilled foods just as safe—and delicious—as we want them to be.

Big Guns Already Booming

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's Constitutional Convention of 1968 is still four months from the starting gate—December 1.

But big guns already are booming in the distance as the major protagonists loft practice shots into the sultry midsummer air.

If that sounds like a mixed metaphor, it also serves as a forewarning of the kind of muffled double talk that will be offered to replace the "cumbersome" and "outdated" language of Pennsylvania's existing Constitution.

"Shake-out the row offices at the Courthouses," roar the big guns of the Bar Association. One of the first of 500 organizations invited to appear before Lt. Gov. Broderick's "preparatory committee," the lawyer's lobby is a major contender in the pre-convention maneuvering.

From out in Beaver Falls comes a return salvo from Pennsylvania's 63 sheriffs-in-convention assembled. Their organization voted unanimously against the idea, "Sheriffs should be elected," they said, not appointed, "because they are familiar with their areas."

But Bill Schnader, the one-time attorney general, has spent nearly 10 years of his semi-retirement in lobbying for specific amendments, and for the Convention itself, and is a veteran of these wars. Smiling at the fire he has drawn, Atty. Schnader zeros in on the sheriffs—and on the other courthouse lobbies who soon will move into range.

"This article," says Schnader "has been under attack in the Legislature by a powerful lobby of county officers who seem to feel that once elected to a particular county office, the office is theirs and cannot be touched by the voters of Pennsylvania."

Notwithstanding, Schnader's proposed language for the "courthouse shake-out" makes tactical concessions to incumbent row officers. It is language that typifies the difficulties 150 Convention delegates will face when they try to write Constitutional language to please everyone.

"The General Assembly shall provide by general law for the government of counties," begins one short proposal. "It may provide by law applicable to all classes of counties, or to a particular class, optional plans of county organization and government which may be adopted by a majority of the qualified electors of a county voting thereon, and also, if the plan involves the elimination of existing political subdivision, by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon in each of a majority of the political subdivisions." . . . Hold on, now. Here comes the hooker

"One option shall be the form of county government in effect when this article becomes effective, which option may be amended by the General Assembly from time to time except that the county officers named in Article XIV, Section 1 of the Constitution of 1874 shall always be retained in this option."

Written by a Philadelphia lawyer, it can still be unraveled without the help of one-by-one people with patience. What it means in people talk is that if you want to eliminate an elective officer, you've got to say so, specifically, on the ballot. Shall the Sheriff be eliminated as an elective officer? Yes or No? It's that simple.

Most delegates for the Convention have yet to be nominated. Yet, in three short weeks this summer, enough testimony has already been collected by the Broderick Committee to fill a book the size of Jim Michener's "Hawaii."

Conscientious Delegates to the three-month-long Convention will have plenty of fascinating reading to keep them busy over the Christmas holidays.

Branded 'Uncle Toms'

WASHINGTON—What's happening inside Negro ranks today is just the reverse of what happened in government during the days of McCarthyism. At that time, government officials, newspapermen and college professors who dared be liberal were branded by McCarthy as communists.

Today Negro leaders who favor moderation or cooperation with white men are branded "Uncle Toms."

Vice President Humphrey has discovered this during his talks with Negroes; so also Mayor Hugh Addonizio of Newark. There's about as much fear among Negroes of being called "Uncle Toms" as there was among professors and government officials in McCarthy's day of being called communists. Result is that Negro moderates, though in a majority, don't speak out.

A recent illustration is what happened in Newark, where radical young Negroes of the "Students for a Democratic Society" felt that they benefited from the rioting.

They are led by a white man, Tom Hayden of the University of Michigan, sometimes called "the Maoist Messiah from Michigan," who took a trip to Hanoi and later lunched with Sen. Bobby Kennedy to report to him on what the North Vietnamese were thinking.

Regardless of what the North Vietnamese were thinking, we can report on what the young Negroes of the big cities are thinking. They don't call themselves revolutionaries, though actually they are close to it. They like to call themselves advocates of "restructuring," not revolution.

But their policy is: The Negro's real enemy is the white liberal, the man who has urged civil rights and built bridges of white-Negro cooperation in the past. Riots are healthy because they separate the blacks from the whites. They publicize the police as the enemy of the Negro and help to sell Negroes that their solution lies in themselves, not cooperation with white liberals. Bridges are difficult to build between the two races after a riot. Hatred is too intense. This is the philosophy of the group which was bidding for power in Newark before the rioting started. It's a minority group. The moderates far outweigh them in number. But because the moderate Negro is not as passionate or devoted in his willingness to attend the meetings, the SDS "kids" frequently get in control.

This is what the better elements among the Negro population are up against in the big

C. L. SULZBERGER

The Enemies Within

(c) N.Y. Times News Service DENVER, Colo.—Small guerrilla movements are now fighting established governments in Guatemala, Colombia, Venezuela and Bolivia. These are coordinated, if loosely, by a single command under Ernesto (Che) Guevara, one of Castro's principal collaborators. They are avowedly Communist-inspired but their doctrine is more elaborate and less disciplined than that of Moscow or Peking. They are violently anti-United States, seeking to destroy Washington's influence and power by all means possible.

It therefore seems almost painfully inevitable that the impatient rebellion in what its leaders call "Our America" (meaning everything south of the Rio Grande) will seek some connection with those extremist black power advocates demanding extensive violence in the U.S. Some day the rebellion may even look for contact with the most activist minority faction among Quebec separatists who want to partition Canada, thereby immensely weakening the northern neighbor of the U.S. and making trouble for Washington.

The inspirational source for these vague aspirations remains Cuban. An eye should be kept on Monday's meeting in Havana of the Latin American solidarity organization whose discussions could reveal the extent of revolutionary plans and ambitions. Already, however, we have a pretty good idea from Guevara's latest pronouncement, published three months ago in Havana.

He wants to create on the American continent "two, three . . . many Vietnams" and to build several focal points (focos) from which guerrilla bands would fan out in various countries. These would be united by one overall command, by "language, habits, religion," and by opposition to "a common foreign master." Guevara, who is believed to be roaming the mainland secretly, claims "rebellion is ripening swiftly" in "Our America."

He comments to Latin American guerrillas: "The road of Vietnam; it is the road that should be followed by the people; it is the road that will be followed in Our America." And he talks of the need to defeat "imperialism" ("the world system, the last stage of capitalism") in "a world confrontation."

Some conception of this movement's enormous ambition and hodgepodge philosophy is given by Regis DeBray, a young French journalist and ideologist now imprisoned in Bolivia. He was arrested on suspicion of collaboration with anti-regime guerrillas. DeBray is an intellectual, a journalist indeed, but more in the manner of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Trotsky and Stalin (who all wrote or edited) than the tradition, shall we say, of a Figaro correspondent.

When seized he represented a left-wing Mexican weekly and was engaged in codification of a textbook on how to bring down existing American governments. This turd word, "Revolution in The Revolution," is not a truly valuable contribution to the literature of revolutionary warfare.

DeBray's imprisonment has been protested by France and his legal position is complex. In a leftist sense, it might be likened to the position of a hypothetical foreign journalist caught in France a few years ago while in touch with the underground Secret Army Organization (O.A.S.) working to overthrow De Gaulle, a journalist engaged in codifying the methodology of rightist insurrection.

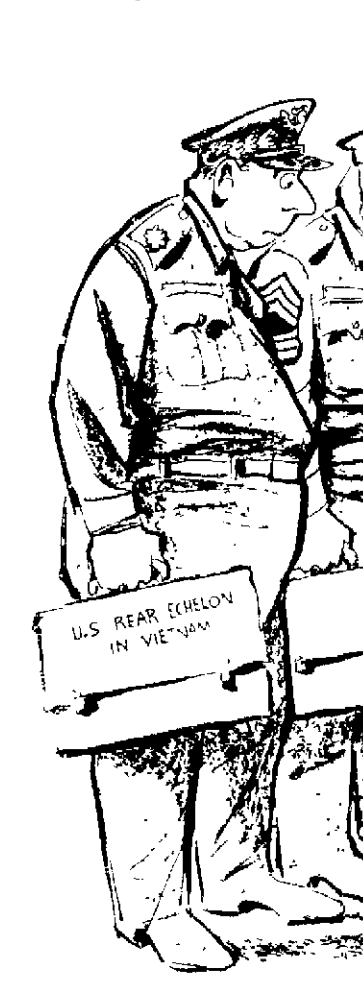

DeBray argues that "an intellectual, especially if he is a bourgeois (as he is), should speak of strategy before all else." He thinks the Communist party "must be strengthened first" because "only the party of the working class can create a true army of the people—as the guarantor of a scientifically based political line and win power in the interests of the workers."

During his Latin American wanderings, DeBray apparently saw Guevara and was so impressed that he singles him out as number one leader of the coming revolution, despite Castro's title of lider maximo.

DeBray's book says: "When Che Guevara reappears, it is hardly risky to assert that it will be as the head of a guerrilla movement, 'as its unquestioned political and military leader.'"

What we now see shaping up is a widespread, awesomely ambitious, exceedingly patient scheme to capture all "Our America" for a brand of communism. Both Guevara and his slightly prophet, DeBray, see Washington as the enemy to overcome.

It is therefore logical to anticipate that the new revolutionists will eventually seek collaboration with discontented minority extremists in the U.S. and Canada, whatever their ideology. Clouds now on the horizon are each no larger than a child's hand but several clouds are already there and more lie in the offing.

ART BUCHWALD

Happy Birthday To You

WASHINGTON—The Soviet Union is celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, but everyone seems to be trying to spoil it for them. One of the highlights of the year-long celebration was going to be the setting off of a fire works display in the Middle East this spring.

But Israel refused to go along with the celebration and set off fireworks of its own, thus ruining the Soviet birthday party, which was to have included Arab dancing in the streets of Tel Aviv.

Since then the Soviets have accused the United States of trying to "discredit" their anniversary and the Soviet press claims there is a conspiracy under way to ruin the Soviets' golden birthday.

Even Arthur Schlesinger Jr. got into the act the other day, when he urged Harper and Row to postpone the publication of Svetlana Alliluyeva's book about her father, Josef Stalin, until after Nov. 7, the anniversary of the revolution. Schlesinger thought U.S.-Soviet relations would be dealt a severe blow if Svetlana's memoirs were published before the November ceremonies.

Now it's obvious to everyone that the last thing the United States wants to do is hurt Soviet feelings, particularly since the Soviet Union has been so nice to us in the past few months. So in order to show that there is no conspiracy to ruin their party, a group of us has set up a Bolshevik Golden Anniversary Committee.

The object of the committee is to make sure nothing is done in the United States to offend the sensibilities of the Soviets. For a start, the committee intends to buy out Harper and Row's interest in Svetlana's book and see that it isn't published at all. If this is not possible, then the committee will buy up every copy and burn them in a giant bonfire on front of the Soviet Embassy on Nov. 6.

Thus the problem of Svetlana's book will be handled with dignity and dispatch and the spirit of Glasnost will be kept alive.

The committee is also planning to have Arthur Goldberg bake a beautiful birthday cake for Nikolai Federenko, the Soviet delegate to the United Nations, which he will present to the Soviet ambassador at a surprise session of the Security Council.

Plans are under way to hold a giant costume ball at the United Nations where everyone will be urged to "come as you were before the Mideast war started."

The grand prize for the best costume will be two weeks in the Sinai Desert with the Egyptian general of your choice.

Other events that are now in the hopper include a "Miss Lenin of 1967" contest at Atlantic City, a tickertape parade down Wall Street led by the Daughters of the Soviet Revolution, and a "take a Commie to lunch week."

Since setting up the committee, we have had inquiries from Americans in every walk of life asking what they can do to help the Soviets celebrate their anniversary.

Well, for a start, we could practice for Nov. 6. All together, now:

"Happy birthday to you,
"Happy birthday to you,
"Happy birthday, dear Bolsheviki,
"Happy birthday to you."

Nine Handed Court Sentences

Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. handed out sentences to nine persons in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday morning. Sentences were either suspended or the minimum in most cases.

The sentences, in the order of appearance, were:

+A fine, payment of costs, and two days in jail, to Donald Stuart of Sugar Grove, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under suspension. Stuart will be released from jail today for an appointment with a doctor.

+A suspended sentence and one year's probation to Edward Stender of 31 Plum st., who pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to furnishing liquor to minors. His main problem, the judge said, appeared to be drinking. One stipulation of the suspended sentence and probation was that he stop drinking.

+A suspended sentence and one year's probation to George M. Martin of Sheffield, who pleaded no contest to a charge

'Fallout' Brings Court Suit In Erie County

ERIE — A local woman, claiming her hair fell out while being bleached blonde, and her husband filed suit Thursday in Erie County Court seeking more than $10,000 from the operator of an Erie beauty parlor.

The couple claim in the suit that during the bleaching treatment, the woman's hair "began to come out and fall out so there were many bald spots on her head."

Owner and operator of a local beauty salon was named the defendant. The suit alleges the woman's hair began to fall out while she was applying the "sundry substances and solutions" to bleach hair in Feb. 1966.

The woman, seeking $5,000 in damages, contended in the suit the loss of her hair left her in nervous shock and gave cause to high blood pressure. The husband asked for $5,000 to cover medical expenses and other losses.

Meter Receipts

Borough police tapped parking meters for $783.21 this week. On street facilities yielded $574.75; municipal parking lots, $208.46.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT

Conversational Counselling and Compost

BY BERNIE WINGERT

Wednesday noon I walked across the street from my "shop" and joined the line of blood donors at the Red Cross Headquarters to give my pint. Arvid Gruber, a dairyman friend from Lander, followed me through the—fill out the card, suck the thermometer, drink the juice, answer the questions, jab the finger for a drop of blood, answer more questions, check the blood pressure—a shush, a shush, a shush goes the "pumper-upper?"—Doctor looks the card over and decides you're going to be able to walk away and finally the actual "letting" routine. We talked while we were waiting our turn, and finally when we were well stretched out on the hard table with a folded paper towel for a pillow, Arvid concentrated on snoozing and I thought about what I should write for this week's column.

I finally decided on four things to cover: (1) more of you Warren County citizens should take the time and come in and give a pint of blood when the Unit is collecting. (2) The Annual Auto Tour, (3) John Nordin's sheep and (4) remind you that Fair time is near at hand.

Let's go back to number one for a second. If you're healthy and able, why not join the line of donors the next time the Unit collects? It doesn't hurt, it doesn't take much time, you get a drink of juice, a cup of coffee and a sandwich, and most important of all, it's your opportunity to do something worthwhile for others, or perhaps even for your own family.

All right—now on to number two. The Annual Auto Tour will be pulling out for Potter County next Tuesday morning, August 1st. For years the Extension Service has arranged tours to visit farms, homes, factories, and businesses within the County and in nearby counties. The idea being that anyone can learn by seeing how someone else is doing a job. This year, with the help of the Potter County Agent, Garner Mitchell, we've arranged to visit several dairy farms, a potato farm, a pea viney, and a tour through a new home. Bring your picnic basket, load the family in the car, and join the tour at the intersection of Route 6 and 59 (the Kinzua Dam Road) at 9 a.m. on Tuesday. It's an Agricultural tour but anyone is welcome. Won't you join us?

Point three that I'm going to discuss is interesting to me. John Nordin, president of our Extension Executive Committee, is at Cornell this weekend showing some of his Hampshire sheep. So far this year he has shown and sold at three top sheep shows—Staunton, Virginia; Harrisburg, and now New York. John has one of the finest purebred Hampshire flocks in the country. He's a national director of Hampshire Sheep Association and has sold breeding stock as far south as Mississippi, north into Vermont and Canada, and into many of the Midwest states. Thought I should mention this so that you town folks who drive up to Blueberry or anyone going to the Plover-right Playhouse might look at this nationally known flock a you drive through Scandia. The sheep are usually in the pasture. Stop and visit—the Nordin's will be happy to show you around the place.

Finally, the Youngsville-Warren County Fair will be at new quarters this year. On August 14 and 15 the County 4-H Round-up will be held on the new grounds, and the Fair will get under way on Wednesday, the 16th and go through Saturday, the 19th. The new location is at the Charlie Takat farm just about a mile from Pittsfield to the left of Route 6. You'll be able to find it easily because you can see the tents from the highway after they're erected.

I'll write my next week's story about the Fair.

of corrupting the morals of a minor. The stipulations of the suspension and probation were to pay costs and engage the services of psychiatric counsel, who would report his findings to the court.

+Six months in jail, with parole after 30 days, to be served on weekends, to Alvin Daniel Whipple of 319 Jackson ave., who pleaded guilty to corrupting the morals of a minor by furnishing beer. The judge noted that there "are very few acts less desirable than furnishing alcoholic beverages to a 14-year-old girl." Whipple said the 14-year-old girl, one of three minors with him at the time of the arrest by trooper Max J. Bizzak, did not drink the beer. The other two youths were 16; one of them was a girl.

+A sentence of 23 days in jail, already served, to Albert French, Clarendon, who pleaded guilty to theft of a radio. The radio was returned. Deputy James C. Peterson testified.

+A sentence of 15 days in jail, already served, to Clarence Brooks, who pleaded no contest to a charge of larceny of a battery and radio from an automobile. Brooks, trooper Harry Jabo said, is AWOL from the Air Force and faces a charge of car theft in Tionesta. Judge Flick is the presiding judge of Forest County and he declared the sentence in that case would be made in Brooks' absence; it would be 15 days, already served. Brooks is to be held for Air Force authorities on the AWOL charge.

+A sentence of 29 days in jail, already served, to Herbert Proctor, Sugar Grove, who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary of a camp. He is AWOL from the Marine Corps. Jabo testified. Judge Flick ordered him held for the Marine Corps authorities on the AWOL charge.

+A suspended sentence and six months probation to Eve Sivi of Bradford, charged with aggravated assault and battery in the recent stabbing of James May of Bear Lake during an altercation at Cabin in the Pines on Route 6. She pleaded guilty to the charge, which had been reduced from assault with intent to kill. She is to pay costs.

+Payment of medical bills and $5 per week support as the father of an illegitimate child, a sentence passed on Richard Pratt. He also has incurred other "responsibilities of any father," Judge Flick said, such as future medical and dental expenses.

Court continued at 2 p.m. for juvenile cases.

GUTTED BY FIRE

Sheffield and Clarendon volunteer firemen combined forces yesterday morning but were unable to save a modest home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foreman two miles west of Sheffield on Route 6. The alarm sounded about 9:20 a.m. Cause of the blaze which gutted the structure has not yet been determined. (Photo by Mansfield)

Home Near Sheffield Completely Demolished

Flames completely gutted the small home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foreman on Route 6 two miles west of Sheffield yesterday morning.

Mrs. Foreman had several anxious moments and succumbed to panic when she thought two of her three children were in the burning home.

Neighbors comforted and restrained the distraught woman until she could comprehend the fact her children had fled to nearby neighbors and were safe.

Sheffield and Clarendon volunteer firemen responded to the 9:20 a.m. fire. Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined and whether the loss of home and possessions is covered by insurance was also not known.

The family was having breakfast when the fire erupted. The modest residence had been remodeled in the last year or so. One fireman said that for five years in a row, Sheffield firemen have had at least one fire call the day before the annual Sheffield firemen's celebration.

Drunk Driving Charge Filed Against Boy, 18

An 18-year-old Warren youth was apprehended by borough police officers at 11:35 p.m. Thursday and charged with drunken driving.

Officers James Saulsgiver and Dennis Schmaier said Geary B. Anderson, of 113 Lexington ave., was arrested and brought to the police station after a reckless chase down Conewango ave.

Anderson, police said, was examined by a physician and found too drunk to be driving.

The Warren youth waived a preliminary hearing before Police Justice Martha Lawson and was released on $500 property bond provided by his mother.

Boy Scout Leaders Schedule Meeting At Camp Kirkwood

A kickoff for Boy Scout, Cub Scout and Explorer Post leaders is scheduled for Thursday at Camp Kirkwood — formerly Boy Scout Camp Jeffmore — on the Jackson Run Road just above North Warren.

Chief Cornplanter Council executive William Wolfersberger says materials for the 1967-68 programs, notebooks, and planning charts will be given to leaders at this session.

All scoutmasters, cubmasters, den mothers, Explorer advisers, assistant scoutmasters and committee members are urged to attend.

Two Cars Involved In Evening Crash

Two cars were involved in a 7:25 p.m. traffic accident on L.R. 61036 in Glade township Thursday night.

State police trooper Paul W. Brown, who investigated, said car driven by Christine Lynne Werlin, 17, of 405 Hazel st., Warren, and Grace S. Donald, 57, 327 Park st., Warren, rounded a sharp curve and collided.

The total number of active volcanoes in the world is 485 with an estimated 80 more which are subsurface.

Town Crier . . . By Les Rickey

I've had time to ponder the actions of French President Charles de Gaulle when he visited Canada.

He called for a free Quebec, and at the time I was worried that he may foment a Vietnam-type rebellion and do the same thing he did in that Southeast Asian country—leave it in our laps.

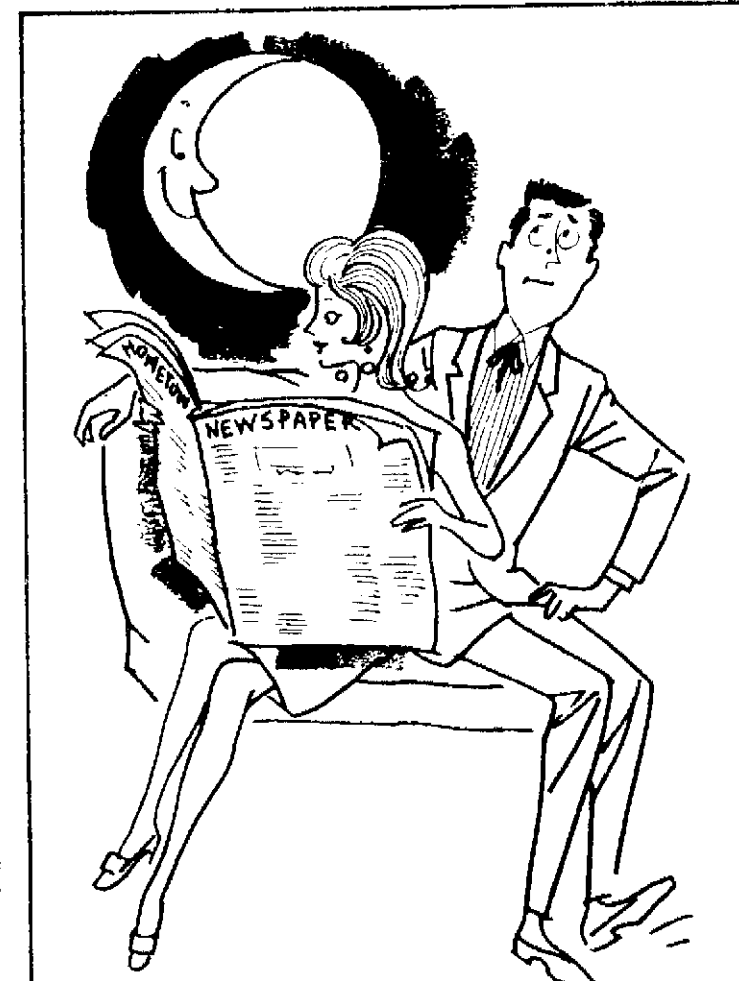

But since then, another spectre has groped its way over the mental horizon.

What if de Gaulle finds out that Celoron de Blanville planted the French flag in Warren County when this area was first being discovered by the European adventurers?

Would he General come tromping into the county by way of the Bradford airport and declare us free?

It's an interesting question and one which we should keep to ourselves. The county would be torn apart, eyeing with suspicion everyone who took the French language in high school.

One thing is certain: the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau hadn't ought to invite him to dedicate the three flags monument being planned.

Darkness Ends Beverage Game with Bank at 5-5

By LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

ERIE—Warren Beverage and Security Peoples Trust played to a 5-5 tie in a Glenwood League game called after seven innings here last night because of darkness.

The Bankers scored the tying run in the last of the seventh on two Beverage errors after the locals had taken a 5-4 lead in the top of the frame on Ken Martin's solo home run.

The game will be replayed from the start on Monday, August 7, at Bayview Field.

The Beveragemen had taken a 2-0 lead in the top of the first frame on infield hits by Steve Kudlock and Martin, and a single to right field by Ken Magown.

The Bankers tied the game in the fourth on Humberto Sama's leadoff single, a walk to Dale Massing, a wild pitch, another single by John Minor and the first of four Beverage errors in the game.

The locals moved back in front 3-2 in the fifth on a walk to leadoff hitter Scott Melville and a two-out triple by Martin.

Erie Club went ahead for the first time in the bottom of the fifth on a single by Danny Melow, a booming triple to center, field by Larry Seneta and a ground out by Sama.

Beverage knotted the game at 4-4 in the top of the sixth on singles by Barney Gudders, Ed Rickerson and Melville.

In the seventh Martin slammed a 2-2 offering from Dick Holliday over the left field screen to give the Beveragemen a 5-4 edge.

In the last of the seventh leadoff hitter John Peck's ground ball was thrown into the dirt at first and the Banker catcher ended up on second base. Another misplay on a ground ball allowed Peck to score the tying run and Jim Patterson came on in relief of Melville to retire the side.

At this point the umpire called the game.

Melville fanned 11 Bankers and issued only one walk, but was tagged for eight hits and all five runs, two of which were unearned.

Beverage is in action again tomorrow when it travels to West Springfield to meet Bihler Tires in a loop twinbill.

US Track Coach Not Talking About Marks

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
WINNIPEG, Canada, (AP) — The talent is there for world record breaking right off the mark in today's opening Pan-American track program, but United States coach Dutch Warmerdam is cagey on the subject.

"I wouldn't guess when a world record might be set, it's like predicting a no-hitter in baseball," said the wiry Warmerdam, who looks more like a lean, leathery cowboy than the world's first 15-foot pole vaulter.

"You never know when the athlete is just right and when he (track or field conditions are just right."

The Pan-Am track show starts with finals in the shot put, the 10,000 meter run and Javelin with the U.S. heavily favored for a one-two sweep in all three. Randy Matson of Texas A&M, the world record holder, will compete in the shot.

Trials will be held in two events—the 100-meter and 400 meter dashes—with some railbirds suggesting the world marks in both may be endangered.

The 100, in which the U.S. will be represented by conceded second-stringers in Oregon State's Willie Turner and Arizona State's Jerry Bright, is one of Sam's weakest events.

Understand that Lenoxx, brother of Jamaica isn't here, but Cuba's Enrique Figueroa and Canada's Harry Jerome are two pretty good sprinters," said Warmerdam.

Jerome is one of our sprinters who currently share the 100-meter world record at 10 seconds, while Figueroa, defending Pan-Am champ, has a 110 time pending. So has Turner.

The Yank 400-meter entry of Lee Evans of San Jose State and Vince Matthews of Johnson C. Smith college will renew a long-standing feud on the springy new asphalt track at the University of Manitoba.

They had a photo finish at 45.8 in the Pan-Am trials at Minneapolis, with Evans getting the nod. The world mark is 44.9, but a notable absentee, San Jose State's Tommie Smith, has a 44.5 mark pending.

It's been about three months since Matson last broke the world record with his 71.5½ toss at College Station, Tex., April 22. The Texas strongman has been working out at home after qualifying for the Pan-Am Games with 68-7¼.

The pole vault event, pitting the world's two hottest vaulters—Southern California's pair of Paul Wilson and Bob Seagren—don't do their stuff until the Aug. 5 closing day of track competition.

Seagren has the world mark of 17.5½ and Wilson has a 17-8 pending.

Can either get over 17-8 here? Warmerdam said: "They have a fine runway from both sides here. There's a good pit. If there is a slight following wind on Aug. 5 the conditions would be right for a big vault by either of our boys."

Today's program also includes the women's discus final, the first day of the women's pentathlon and trials in the women's 100 meters.

Eagle-Redskin Rookies Meet in Hershey Tonight

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Philadelphia Eagle rookies get their first taste of National Football League-brand ball tonight.

It comes when the team's first-year men and 1966 reserve veterans square off against their counterparts on the Washington Redskins at Hershey Stadium.

Both Eagles' coach Joe Kuharich and the Redskins' mentor Otto Graham feel the 8 p.m. scrimmage will give them an opportunity to see how the yearlings operate under simulated game conditions.

Kuharich said he will utilize all rookies and veteran reserves of last year. He said the starting quarterback will be Benji Dial, Eagles No. 3 draft choice Harry Wilson of Nebraska and Dan Berry, a 1966 red-shirt selection from California, are expected to start at the running back spots. Both Wilson and Berry have impressed observers during daily workouts at the Hershey training camp.

Kuharich said he is also slating Chuck Hughes and Bob Van Pelt, the Eagles' fourth and fifth draft choices for extensive action.

and then it failed me in the last games."

"I didn't think either of us played our best," said Koch.

"Arthur's service came back to him in the fifth set but I did not think he could hold it all the way and he didn't. The wind was very tricky and the balls heavy. At times the only thing you could do was close your eyes and swing."

Ashe put up a good fight in the third set but the left-handed Brazilian was too steady for him. Besides his service, Ashe had trouble with his slice backhand which hit the net repeatedly.

The harvest of medals in gymnastics brought the United States' totals after five days of competition to 31 gold, 18 silver and 10 bronze, Canada is second with three gold, seven silver and 10 bronze.

Ahead today lies four almost certain gold medals for the United States in track, which opens competition and four or five events in swimming. Neither blue ribbon sport was on yesterday's calendar.

The gymnastic victories went this way:

Men's pommel horse—Mark Cohn, Philadelphia, first; Richard Loyd, Winsboro, La., second; Dave Thor, Reseda, Calif., third.

Women's balance beam—Linda Jo Metheny, first; Donna Schaezner, Milwaukee, Wis., second; Marie Walther, Lakewood, Ohio, third.

Men's floor exercises—Hector Ramirez, Cuba, first; Richard Loyd, second; Dave Thor and Armando Garcia, Mexico, tied for third, each receiving a bronze medal.

Men's still rings—Armando Valles, Mexico, first; Fred Rothlisberger, Madison, Wis., and Mark Cohn tied for second, each receiving a silver medal. No bronze medal awarded.

Loyd and Miss Metheny became the first Americans to win two gold medals. Elaine Tanner of Canada has two in swimming and two world records as well.

Hornung Says No More Football

GOLDEN BOY LOSES GLITTER

Paul Hornung, for many years the "Golden Boy" of football announced yesterday that he would retire rather than risk any permanent damage which could be caused in a football game. Hornung was recently drafted by the newly formed New Orleans Saints of the NFL. After a brilliant career at Notre Dame he went on to set a single season scoring record with the Green Bay Packers.

Miami-Denver Exhibition Opens Season at Akron

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The state of Ohio, home of pro football's Hall of Fame, has watched National League football for years, but it gets its first look at the American League to night when Miami and Denver open the 1967 exhibition schedule in Akron.

The game is the only one on this weekend's agenda. The National League gets started next Wednesday night with the New Orleans Saints making their debut in a contest against Los Angeles at Anaheim.

Next week's schedule also includes Friday night's game in Chicago between the Green Bay Packers and the College All-Stars and Saturday night's encounter in Denver between the AFL Broncos and the NFL Detroit Lions, the first of 16-inter-league exhibition games.

In opening the pre-season schedule, Miami is beginning its second year in the AFL while Denver is playing its first game under Coach Lou Saban, who led the Buffalo Bills to two championships before leaving for the University of Maryland last year.

Saban, who was coaxed to Denver by a lucrative 10-year contract will display a team with a different look—at least in personnel—from the one that finished at the bottom of the Western Division with a 4-10 record in 1966.

From the moment he arrived in Denver, Saban started dealing. The latest figures show he has dealt away eight players from the 1966 squad and acquired 10, including Cookie Gilchrist as part of the league's largest transaction this year.

That was the seven-player trade between the two teams that will play in Akron.

Gilchrist is back with Denver and also back with Saban, who coached him at Buffalo, while Arney Haynes, who has scored more touchdowns than any other AFL player, is in the Miami backfield where he could provide a big spark.

The Dolphins hope to improve the surprising 3-11 record they compiled in their first year in the AFL.

Several big names from both teams will miss the game. In Chicago for the All-Star game are running back Floyd Little, tight end Tom Beer, linebacker Pete Duranko and guard George Goeddeke of the Broncos and quarterback Bob Gries, flanker Jack Clancy and tackle Jim Riley of the Dolphins.

The rest of the AFL gets underway next weekend with Boston meeting New York Friday night at Bridgeport, Conn., and the other teams playing Saturday night—Buffalo and Miami at Memphis, Tenn.; Kansas City at Houston and San Diego at Oakland.

The only other NFL teams scheduled for action next week are Philadelphia and Cleveland, which will clash at Canton, Ohio, Saturday night in the Hall of Fame game.

By that time, the Browns hope to be rid of the problem they face now—the collective walk-out of five players.

Leroy Kelly, John Wooten, John Brown, Mike Howell and Sidney Williams were due at the Browns' camp last Saturday. But they have refused to report and say they want the Browns to negotiate with them as a group or trade all of them.

No change in the situation has been reported since they began the holdout.

Julius Boros Takes Lead at Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tough old Julius Boros, a two-time U.S. Open champion, carved out a steady, par 72 yesterday and took a one-stroke lead at the halfway point of the $100,000 Minnesota Golf Classic with a 36-hole total of 142.

Tommy Bolt, another circuit veteran, fired a sparkling 69 with the aid of six birdies and drew within one stroke of Boros, along with Dudley Wysong, who of Brockway.

Other top ten drivers out to improve their positions will be Johnny Whitehead, Dick Litz, Paul Wilson, Fred Knapp and Jim Scott.

Also on tap will be a complete program of 1932-63 Sportsmen cars. Ron Blackmer the hottest driver in either division, can win another feature and increase his impressive string of seven consecutive Sportsmen features.

Racing begins at the Busti, N. Y. track with the first heat race at 8:30 p.m.

Martin Tops Industrial

The 13th week of golf for the Warren County Industrial Golf League saw Harold Martin take honors as he capped an overall score of 35 Tuesday night on the Jackson Valley greens.

Joe Brindis marked a 37 and Gail Nelson swung a 38. Don Vatera, Bob Yerg and Mush Swanson all chalked a 39.

Complete results for the 13th week of golf were as follows: Warren Beverage 6½, Penn Distributors 5½; Exchange Hotel ½, Struthers Wells 9½; Brennae-Root 5½, Crescent Distributors 6½; Sunray Products 7, Jamestown Publishers 5; New Process Co. 5½, Warren County Insurance, Deluxe Metal 9½; Genesee 4½, Reliable Furniture 7½; J. B. Connolly 7½, Wal's Shoe Store 4½; Tomassoni Nursery 8½, Soda and Mineral 3½.

Golfer Gets Birdie, Eagle on Same Hole

LAMLASH, Scotland (AP) — Golfer Dan Crawford claimed a birdie and shot an eagle on the same hole yesterday.

His tee shot at the par 4, 300-yard 11th went off like a rocket and killed a circling seagull. That was a wee birdie, by Scottish standards.

Dan then holed his second shot—and that was an eagle 2 by any standards.

Retires Rather than Risk Possible Permanent Injury

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Paul Hornung, Golden Boy of the National Football League for a decade, announced his retirement today rather than risk permanent spinal injuries.

The 31-year-old Hornung, all NFL halfback three times for the Green Bay Packers, said he received an explicit medical warning of "permanent, detrimental results" to his spinal cord if he received another jarring football-type injury.

Hornung's retirement was announced by John Mecom Jr., owner of the New Orleans Saints, who acquired Hornung in the expansion draft this year.

The retirement confirmed earlier reports from tests at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., which indicated an injury Hornung suffered last year resulted in his present condition.

Hornung said he hurt his neck while scoring a touchdown against the Chicago Bears, when a Bear player fell on him.

He suffered nerve root damage, the Mayo physicians told him.

"I wanted to play a year or two more as an active player," said Hornung.

He discounted the possibility of continuing his career as a place kicker, saying, it would be "too hard to remain on the sidelines, I'd probably end up kicking myself."

Hornung has a contract with a New Orleans television station for the 1967 season and will remain at the Saints' Cal Western training camp in San Diego, helping running backs through the exhibition season as a special assistant to head coach Tom Fears.

He also may become associated with Mecom, who had made sure that Hornung had the best and most complete tests possible before the final decision was made on his future.

Any relationship which Hornung would have with Mecom has not been decided.

Besides the tests at the Mayo Clinic, Hornung also was sent to Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, Calif., and Baptist Memorial Hospital in Houston, Tex. The Houston tests revealed no disc injury and no surgery was contemplated.

The former Notre Dame great and Heisman Trophy winner said he wanted to play another year or two, but I didn't figure I could play 100 per cent and I always would have been thinking of what could happen."

Mecom called Hornung's retirement a "Great loss to us, but he'll be an asset coaching because the younger boys will have to look up to him."

The blond Hornung was one of professional sports' most eligible bachelors until this year, when he was married. He had even authored a book about football and the single man.

He was a triple threat with the Packers—running, passing and kicking. He scored 760 points during his career and his 176 points in 1960 helped him win the NFL's most valuable player honor.

Hornung made headlines in 1963, along with Detroit tackle Alex Karras when an NFL investigation showed some players betting on their own teams. They were suspended for the 1963 season.

However, Hornung came back in 1964 to score 107 points.

Indian Cage Coach Alvin Julian Dies

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Dartmouth basketball coach Alvin Julian died yesterday in his home here. He was 66.

Julian's teams won 386 games and lost 342 in his 31-year coaching career at Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Muhlenberg, Albright and with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association.

His 1947 Holy Cross Team won the National Collegiate Athletic Association title.

Julian had been basketball coach at Dartmouth for 17 years.

He suffered a stroke last December while coaching Dartmouth in the Kodak Classic tourney at Rochester, N.Y.

Good Reason, Sue

DENVER (AP) — Susan Kay Hawkins, blonde Miss Bronco for the Denver team in the American Football League, says her favorite player is defensive back Goose Gonsoulin — "he is the most eligible bachelor."

Americans Win and Lose in Pan-American Tennis Play

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor
WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — Herb Fitzgibbon, former captain of the Princeton tennis team, upset Brazil's international star, Edson Mandarino 6-2, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2 at the Pan-American Games yesterday but Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., lost a three-hour, 15-minute marathon duel with Tom Koch, another Brazilian.

Koch won 3-6, 6-0, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. Ashe's defeat in the semifinals dissipated hopes of an all-America tennis final but the setback could not stop the American harvest of medals.

While Ashe and Koch were battling, American gymnasts picked up three gold firsts, six silver seconds and three bronze thirds.

In women's singles Patsy Rippey of Shawnee, Okla., defeated Faye Urban of Canada 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, and in the finals tomorrow will meet Elena Subirats of Mexico, who ousted Janie Albert of Peble Beach Calif., 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

Fitzgibbon will face Koch in the finals of men's singles, also on Sunday.

Koch and Mandarino made up the Brazilian team that upset the United States Davis Cup squad in the Zone finals last year. Koch was seeded No. 1 in this tournament and Mandarino No. 2. Ashe was seeded fifth and the lanky Fitzgibbon, now a private stationer at West Point, was unseeded.

Ashe's game on clay, which he does not like, was spotty. He was brilliant at times, especially in the first set, but fell into lapses and was just a shadow in the second set which he lost at love.

"I thought I played terribly," Ashe said, "I didn't get my service going until the last set

Runner Juergen May Dashes to Freedom

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

BOON — The loneliness of the middle-distance runner, Juergen May, got to be unbearable after he was banned from the track for life, by his East German Athletic Association in January. So Thursday, he ran off to West Germany.

May, 25 was a champion in his best days about three years ago. He set a world record of 2:16.2 at 1,000 meters just two years ago. In 1965 he also set the still-standing German record of 3:36.4 for 1,500 meters. His 3:53.8 mile has yet to be beaten by a German.

In those days May was praised to the skies by the East German Communist regime, which has been seeking political recognition through its pampered athletes for years. "A star, a talent, a comrade," he was called by an East German paper.

But May disappointed his benefactors last year not only by losing some races, but also by accepting money from a West German track shoe company for the use of his name in advertising. The East German Athletics Association disqualified him for violating his amateur status.

Thereafter he vanished from public view. Letters from the West to him went unanswered. But he remained in contact with runner friends in the West.

This week they arranged his escape, apparently by way of Rumania and West Berlin. He took up residence in Hochstadt near Frankfurt yesterday. Of his flight he said, "My knees are still shaking. No world record run was as exciting."

MODERN CEILING

Harvey Martin of Bevevino Electric, installs section of new gold-colored Leafite ceiling by Luminous Ceiling of Chicago in new interior construction of Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co. This is believed to be the first such modern ceiling installed in this region. Also in place are some of the Walnut wood matched panels which comprise the walls. Entire project is designed by Jeremy Fisher, architect. (Photo by Hoff)

LOANS FIRE TRUCK

Jamestown Makes Neighborly Gestures

A friendly gesture by the city of Jamestown, N.Y., has resulted in the Warren Fire Department getting a replacement ladder truck while their own is away having damages repaired that were incurred when it coasted backwards into a tree during an early morning fire investigation on Alexander street last Monday.

The truck, a long-nosed 1945 American LaFrance ladder rig, arrived at the Warren Central Fire Station on Third avenue about 3 p.m. Thursday. The truck was loaned to the local department when Warren Fire Chief I. E. Fitzgerald called the Jamestown department to see if they would be able to assist the Warren firefighters if they had any fires which would require the services of a hydraulic ladder truck. The ladder truck belonging to Warren, a 1949 American LaFrance, was hauled away on a Masterson Transfer flatbed trailer truck this week to Elmira, N.Y., where it is to be repaired.

The truck sustained an undetermined amount of damage last Monday morning when the brakes let go while the truck was parked on a hill on Alexander street while firemen were investigating a 6 a.m. fire call during an electrical storm.

The ladder rig coasted backward down the street narrowly missing a borough police car and jumped the curb striking a tree and coming to a halt between two houses after traveling 223 feet. No one was injured. Most of the damages to the truck were on the left rear end.

The Jamestown Fire Department said they would assist, but said they had an additional ladder truck as they kept their old one when they recently purchased a new one. The truck has been kept in operation, but is not considered part of their basic fire fighting fleet. It carries a 65 foot aerial ladder and two 50 foot extension ladders which is more than the Warren truck has. It has a 65 foot aerial ladder, but its two extension ladders are only 35 feet long.

The long nose of the cab may make the loaned truck look somewhat dated and its Jamestown Fire Department markings may look out of place, but it is considered a blessing by the local fire department. Borough citizens are assured full fire protection by this neighborly gesture while their truck is being repaired.

Although a 1945 model, the Jamestown truck is in excellent condition and has less than 10,000 miles on its speedometer. Chief Fitzgerald said it is not known how long it will take to repair the Warren ladder truck.

AT CHAUTAUQUA

Young Repubs Charter Bus For Romney Speech

Romney

Warren County Young Republicans extend an invitation to all those interested in accompanying them to Chautauqua Institute next Friday to hear Governor George Romney speak. A bus has been chartered by the group and a section of seats reserved at the amphitheater for those traveling with the Warren County contingent.

The bus will depart from the loading platform at Beatty Jr. High School at 5:45 p.m. Tickets are $2 per person and include the bus fare and gate admission at Chautauqua. Those attending will be able to meet Romney at 6:45 p.m.

Reservations may be made in advance by phoning Tom Africa, 723-7817; Virginia Watt, 723-1926 or Andrea Tremblay, 723-6373.

Gov. Romney will offer pertinent comments on current politics and the sponsoring organization feels a busload or two of congenial people will find much to discuss. The effort to make the trip possible, Young Republicans said, is to put the fun into being well-informed.

Civil Rights Official

Simon Goldman, president and general manager of James Broadcasting Co., has been named chairman of the New York State Allegany Area of the Anti-Defamation League. The Jamestown man has long been associated with intergroup relations and civil rights work. The League is concerned with civil rights for B'nai B'rith, National Jewish service organization.

3 In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Kenneth Lyle, who passed away July 29, 1966.

The call was sudden, the shock was severe,
We had little thought such grief was near,
Only one who has lost can tell the plan of parting without a farewell,
God took him home, it was his will,
But in our heart he lives still,
Sadly missed by his wife Gertrude, daughter Joan, son James and brothers and sisters.

1967 Treasurer's Tax Sale Of Seated Lands For Taxes For The Year 1965

IN COMPLIANCE with and by virtue of the authority vested in me, the undersigned Treasurer of Warren County by the several Acts of General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and specifically the Act approved May 29, 1931, P.L. 280, as amended and supplemented, authorizing and empowering the County Treasurer to sell, at public sale, all seated lands upon which taxes levied are delinquent and remain unpaid, and fixing penalties, terms of sale, etc., I, the said Treasurer of Warren County, will sell at public sale the following properties as hereinafter set forth.

THE PURPOSE of the said sale, is to enforce the collection of delinquent taxes, penalties, interest and costs thereon as the said taxes are returned for the year 1965. The said sale will be held at the Court House in the Borough of Warren, Warren County, Pennsylvania on:

MONDAY, AUGUST 7th, 1967 AT 9:00 A. M. EDST

TERMS OF SALE: As soon as the property is struck down the purchaser shall pay (I) the amount of the purchase money, or (II) such part of the purchase money as may be necessary to pay all taxes, except such taxes as have heretofore been filed as liens in the office of the Prothonotary and all interest and costs. In case said amount is not forthwith paid after the property is struck down the sale will be voided and the property immediately put up again for sale by the said Treasurer. In the event the purchaser fails to later make complete settlement at the time and in the manner provided for in said Act of May 29, 1931, P.L. 280, as amended and supplemented, any money paid under the terms of this sale will be forfeited and will be disposed of the same as purchase money. After the sale of the property of lands has been confirmed by the Court, where the bid exceeds the taxes, interest and costs, as aforesaid, the purchaser will make and execute to the said Treasurer, for the use of the persons entitled a bond for the surplus money that may remain after satisfying the paying of all taxes, interest and costs.

TAKE NOTICE all persons, owners or reputed owners, terra tenants or any person claiming an interest in the following described lots or tracts of land:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that your said property situated in the Borough or Township, as hereinafter described has been returned for non payment of taxes for the year 1965, and unless such taxes, interest and cost are paid before Monday, the Seventh Day of August, 1967, at 9 o'clock A. M. Eastern Daylight Savings Time (EDST) of said day, the said premises will be sold as set forth.

The Tourism Boom in Scandia

Kinzua Dam Means Tourism Boom for Scandia

By TOM CURTIN

A number of recent articles in the Warren Times Mirror and Observer have called attention to the growth which has been occurring in Warren County in recent years.

Formerly a strictly agricultural community somewhat off the beaten path, Scandia in Elk Township is fast becoming a major tourist attraction. Have you considered spending your vacation in this area? It is possible to spend it just in the Scandia area.

Approach to the Kinzua reservoir can be made in two different ways. First you may travel to the beautiful government recreational spot at Roper Hollow, or the other way is the former Onoville road which will take you to the water's edge. Here you enjoy swimming, boating, fishing, picnicking or just sightseeing.

Upon returning to Scandia you may enjoy camping at Wade's Woods, golfing and dining at Blueberry Hill, a trailride at P. F. Ranch, taking the kids to the Scandia Animal Park, a play at the Plowright Playhouse or a breathtaking flight over the reservoir from the Kinzua Air Park. You would encounter a minimum of driving and the prices for all of these activities are unbelievably low, in fact a great deal lower than what similar activities would cost at most tourist areas.

Most of the facilities are owned and operated by local families who live there year around. These people have just begun to develop their attractions and they all are working on and planning bigger and better facilities.

The Scandia area in reality is growing faster than anyone would have ever predicted a few years ago. Property there has increased in value manifold since the construction of Kinzua Dam. However, a greater amount of use of this area is seen when the day finally comes when Scandia may be reached safely by a passable road. Foremost among the problems confronted by these industrious people is the new road which they have been promised, but which has not as yet materialized.

This week's magazine section of the TMO features some of the many new recreational and tourist developments in the Scandia area. However, the reader is reminded he is not reading about some far away, expensive and unreachable tourist resort, but instead of such an area existing in our own county. In keeping with the government's program to keep American dollars in the country we might ask you to "see Warren County first."

GOOD NEIGHBOR BOB — Bob Wade of Wade's Woods camping area stops in to chat with some of his campers and see they are satisfied. The camping area opened in 1963 has become known to weekend campers in several states.

NOW HAS SWIMMING POOL

Wade's Woods Expanding

By TOM CURTIN

As urban populations soar at a phenomenal rate and large community and city life becomes more congested, the number of weekend campers likewise is increasing as they seek an escape from the daily routine.

Many of the campers who travel into Warren County with their tents, trailers or single unit campers, journey over the hill to Scandia where they set up camp at Wade's Woods which is becoming known among camping enthusiasts throughout the three state area. Wade's Woods is the brainchild of Robert Wade of 103 Main St., North Warren, who along with his wife Marie and two sons, Chris and Steve, have been operating the Mecca for campers since 1963.

Developed upon 30 acres of woodland, Wade has 50 regular campsites and additional overflow areas. On some weekends he has had as many as 65 different groups of campers. Most of the sites have their own water and electric hookups to be utilized by the modern trailers and truck campers. Nearby toilet facilities with showers and running water have been provided as well as a small store.

A popular spot in the campgrounds is the pavilion which makes rainy weather more bearable. Wade has a regular program set up for the pavilion on Saturday nights. Square dances are held on many Saturday evenings with a band from Russell providing the music. At different times during the summer the children are thrilled by the antics of a magician from Buffalo who gives performances in the sheltered area. Last weekend campers were given a very interesting 1½ hours slide presentation by a soldier who recently returned from Vietnam.

With final inspection by the State Board of Health sometime next week, Wade's Woods will become the first camping spot in the immediate area with an outdoor heated swimming pool. Just nearing completion the swimming area consists of a children's pool which measures 15 by 20 feet running from 12 to 18 inches in depth. The main pool is 50 by 20 feet and has a depth from 3 to 8½ feet. The whole area is fenced in with a wide concrete edge for sunbathers. A bathhouse and showers are also adjacent. The water will be heated to a constant temperature of 81 degrees and will be kept open during September when non-heated water becomes too cold for swimming because of the cold nights.

As for future plans Wade says he will build a drive-in restaurant near the road and put more utilities in the pavilion and make it available to local groups during the week for meetings and picnics. Also he intends to construct a boat parking area to cater to the many boaters who are flocking to the waters of the Kinzua reservoir.

When asked if most of the campers are just overnights, Mr. Wade says no. He explained most of them are repeat campers who come nearly each weekend or spend most of their vacation there. A large number of golfers and boaters use the camping facilities, but a growing number of fishermen are coming in. Wade's Woods makes an ideal vacation spot being closely located to the reservoir, a golf course, a summer theatre, a horse riding ranch and an animal farm.

State statistics show that the average family of campers spend a daily amount of $31 a day in the area where they are vacationing. These are dollars paid directly to area businessmen and these same visitors make very little use of our hospitals, police, fire departments, and other agencies. Thus, most of this money comes into the area as profit. Tourism will soon be one of Warren County's largest industries, with family camping groups making up no small part of that business.

Animal Farm For Children (Of All Ages)

Fast becoming the talk of the younger set and also quite popular with parents is the Scandia Animal Park, situated on a 15 acre combination of meadow and woodland in Elk Township.

Like most of other new recreational developments in the Scandia area the animal park is owned and operated by a family who lives right there. Curtis McGraw and his family opened the new attraction last year and have been adding to their selection of animals and improving their grounds since.

Strictly an animal park, no snakes, the bill of fare contains such critters as: fallow deer, lambs, goats, puppies, rabbits, ducks, llamas, burros, raccoons, bears, a mountain lion, a badger, a Coati Mundi, foxes, a monkey and several types of birds and other small animals. The well constructed cages are located in a woodland setting with paths winding among the trees to each animal. A special feature for children is the animal pen in which they may walk inside and feed and play with lambs, goats, puppies, and other domestic animals.

Children from all over have visited the park and delighted at being able to closely, but safely, view the variety of furry and feathered creatures. Many school groups have made visitations to the attraction. This summer, Head Start and summer school classes from Tionesta, Falconer, Sheffield and Jamestown have come to enjoy the animals. Some of these same children return again with their parents. Mr. McGraw produced a letter from a teacher in Jamestown who was overjoyed with their trip and the facilities. Many groups are making the trip an annual affair.

For families or groups who wish to make a day of it in the Scandia region, the McGraws have made a picnic area near the park entrance. Refreshments and feed for the animals are available at the park entrance.

As for the future McGraw plans to purchase more animals. He hopes to acquire a number of western animals which are foreign to this region, but will adapt to it. Most of the animals weather out the winters in their cages, but some must be taken into the barn and others, like Cocoa the monkey, even get a place in the cellar of the McGraw residence.

THEY KNOW THE BOSS — Curt McGraw, owner of the Scandia Animal Park, takes time to give a little attention to some of the many animals he has in his park.

SURPRISE — The raccoons are a favorite with youngsters and adults alike at the Scandia Animal Park. The large cage containing the two coons is usually a center of attention.

KIDDING AROUND — Wendy Allen, 2 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Allen of Alexandria, Va., makes friends with one of the many goats in the domestic animal pen at the Scandia Animal Park. Children may enter the large pen and play with the baby goats, lambs, puppies, rabbits, ducks and other domestic critters.

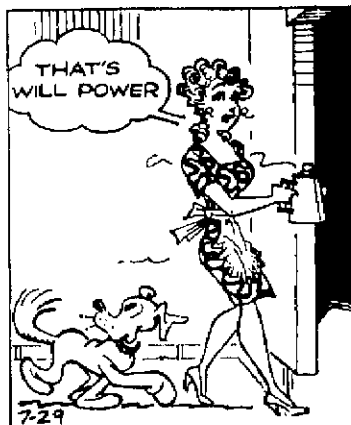

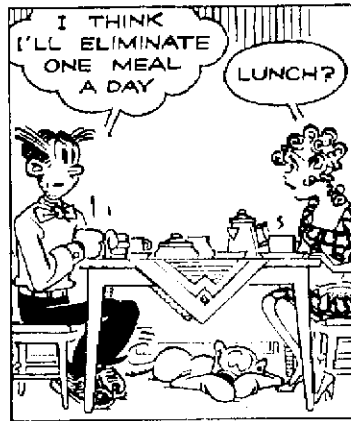

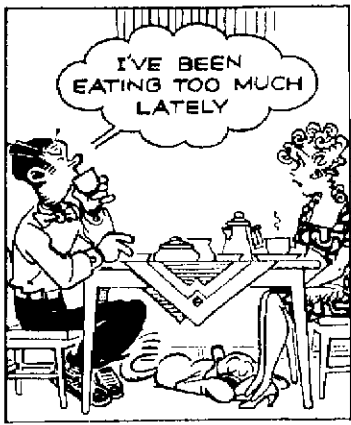

MONKEY SEE — Cocoa the monkey is one of the most popular members of the population at the Scandia Animal Farm.

About The Cover

It might look like Montana, "The Big Sky Country," but it's really the Scandia area in Warren County, where Mike Ferrie and his little brother Tim ride herd on cattle on the P.F. Ranch. That's only part of the story of Scandia's tourism boom, highlighted on today's feature pages in this section.

HELPING HEIDER — All in a day's work is the task of getting the goat's horns untangled from the fence. This is one of many duties taken care of 12-year-old Frank McGraw who spends his summer doing many of the chores around the Scandia Animal Park which is owned and operated by his family.

TACK SHOP — Pat Ferrie and his wife Phyllis, who own and operate the P. F. Ranch, discuss some of the merchandise in their Tack shop which features riding equipment and clothing. Pat says his Phyllis is the boss, but Pat wears the biggest boots.

FEEDING TIME — Mike Ferrie of the P. F. Ranch works at his feeding chores, but is getting some unwanted assistance from a colt which has the run of the barn. The ranch has 28 head of riding stock.

HELLO THERE — Jack Fox of Cone-wango ave., Warren, takes time out to fool with the pet goat of the P. F. Ranch. Jack is related to the Ferrie family who owns the ranch. He has been spending some time there assisting in the many jobs that have to be done.

P.F. Ranch Offers Rides In Woods

For horseriding buffs, the rolling range of the Scandia hilltop country is all part of an hour's trail ride that can be taken across meadows and through woodlands at the P. F. Ranch.

Owned and operated by the Patrick Ferrie family, who live there year around, the ranch is situated on 100 acres of land with access to an additional 140 acres. The ranch stocks a herd of 28 riding animals including everything from registered Appaloosa horses to ponies and mules. The mile-long scenic trail ride is becoming a great drawing card as horse lovers from all over make use of the ranch facilities. For the younger set, a three-quarter mile pony trail makes an ideal ride.

Ferrie has been around horses all of his life and for nearly 20 years dreamed about starting such a ranch. Three years ago he purchased the farm he now owns and began making his dream come true. With the help of his wife and three boys he has been able to get started. Recently the family moved from their former home in Russell to take up permanent residence at the ranch. Ferrie has already opened up a tack shop which features western riding apparel and leather tack gear. The ranch owner does a great deal of his own leather work and repair.

Slowly but surely the ranch is taking shape and children delight at the various animals — ducks, goats, rabbits, cats, dogs, chickens and cattle — which are there primarily for their benefit. Plans are to provide year around activity on the ranch with riding and hayrides in the spring, summer and fall. Power driven snowsleds and sleigh riding are planned for the winter months which seem longer in Scandia than anywhere else in the area.

The ranch is open every day and evening. Both Ferrie and his son Mike are giving riding lessons and greatly encourage anyone who has never ridden a horse to come and give it a try. Ferrie says he has noticed an increasing amount of business by people from out of the state or out of the immediate area. However, local patronage is an important factor. Last weekend a large number of Warren County 4-H Pony Club members held an overnight campout and trailride on the ranch.

Ferrie says he will soon build cabins and encourage city people to vacation a week in the country enjoying the pleasures of the ranch and surrounding area. The cabins also would be used in the fall by hunters and in the winter by power sled fans.

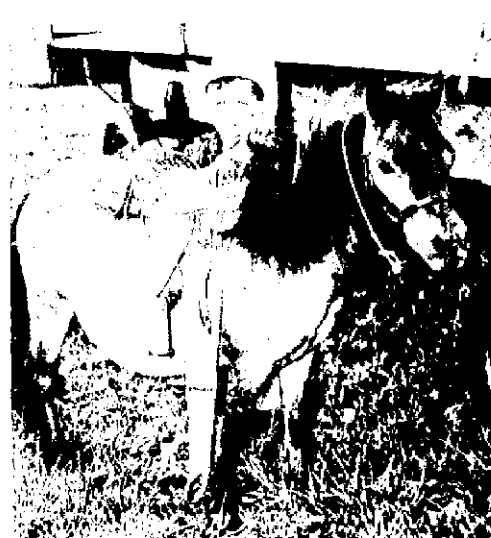

BLUEBERRY GOLF COURSE HOPES TO HAVE 18 HOLES IN NEAR FUTURE

Blueberry Development Took Local Effort

By TOM CURTIN

About four miles from the waters of the Kinzua reservoir lies 300 acres of SADDLING UP — Every boy wishes for a pony, but when they are 2½ years old they know little about them. That's right, little Tim Ferrie is 2½ years old. Here he gets out his special saddle and climbs aboard his miniature Shetland pony.

land known as the Blueberry Hill Development. It is fast becoming one of the most popular public golf courses in the area.

Blueberry Hill Golf Course opened seven years ago this summer. It is a corporation consisting of 485 stockholders, mostly from around Warren. Presently the course consists of 11 holes with a total yardage of 6,319. By September it is hoped that two more holes will be opened, and plans are to have all 18 holes completed a year from this fall.

In one of the most popular sports of the day, golfers are on the course anytime from 8 in the morning until evening darkness settles over the scenic spot. The clubhouse, which serves dinners and legal beverages, is opened from 8 each morning until 10 in the evening. On Sundays it closes at 5 p. m.

Today over 90 golfers will participate in the Warren Elks', Wilbur Riggs Memorial Tournament at Blueberry. The group will play all during the day and enjoy a luncheon and dinner at the clubhouse. Presently the Blueberry members are involved in their own elimination matches. Each week the club sets aside Tuesday for Womens' Day and Wednesday for Stag Day.

Greens superintendent, Charles Irwin, explained some of the work involved in converting the former farm and woodland into a golf course. First the trees had to be cut, the stumps pulled and the land graded. Next the tees were built, water piped in, and grass seeded. After this it took about a year before the new greens could be played.

In addition to the golf course, the corporation is selling 23 lots, of which 13 have already been purchased. These are to be used for summer homes and permanent residences. Soon another 80 lots will open up for sale in the woodland that completely surrounds the golf course. This has all been laid out by a professional planning and development firm. Another attached plot of land consisting of 50 acres is being reserved for future recreational use is being kept aside. Future plans call for the construction of a new clubhouse within the next five years and with this it has been proposed to construct lodging so weekend golfers might stay right at the course. In some cases it is believed groups will fly into the nearby airport operated by Harold Beach. Presently the club has a weekly vacationers' plan worked out with nearby Wades Woods camping area.

You don't have to be a tourist or on vacation to enjoy the pleasures of Blueberry Hill as it is a public golf course and another example of locally owned, well-managed, recreational development.

Air Ride Over Reservoir Is Breathtaking

By TOM CURTIN

The ultimate in one's attempt to become aware of the vastness of the Kinzua Reservoir and the beauty within which this gem is set, is a flight in an airplane piloted by Harold Beach from his recently completed Scandia Air Park.

Undoubtedly soon to become one of the most popular attractions of the area will be the 17-minute flights which Beach will take his passengers on in his sleek, single engine Cessna. The plane is rolled out the hanger and you are invited to climb aboard and taxi out on to the 220-foot airstrip. The pilot revs up the engine lifts the brake and the plane travels down the runway soon defying gravity and nosing upward. You look out the cabing window at the green forest canopy below you as it drops farther away until you can view the entire countryside like a map with the patches of farmland turning up like islands in the forest and the winding roads resembling a wandering pencil line.

With barn tops and cattle looking like specs the scene below becomes strictly forest as the plane nears the Kinzua Dam. Out in the distance the evening sun casts a golden glow over the concrete span which holds back the waters of the Allegheny. As the plane circles over the dam one gets an unusual sensation as you note the metamorphosis of calm, smooth lake water being churned into a white foam as it is ejected through the gates of the dam into the river.

On the northeastern side of the dam for a moment you think you are viewing an ancient Greek or Roman area, but soon realize the giant bowl like circle in the forest below is the water reservoir for the hydro-electric project still under construction.

Then Beach calmly sweeps back over the hills and brings you out over the mouth of Kinzua Creek with an unmatched view of the reservoir, the Cornplanter Bridge and Wolf Run Marina, with white dots bobbing on the water which in reality are the boats bouyed there. As the plane glides up the reservoir, you look down on the sun glistened water where boaters and fishermen here and there dot the scene, but far apart from one another. For an instant you hang over a V-shaped ripple in the water as you look down on a boat pulling a water skier and the wave they leave behind.

Unbelievable is the only way to describe the scene of valleys filled with water winding mysteriously and enticingly out of sight. Never fear the spoiling of this beauty by the human animal as the slight encroachments of recreational sites along the shoreline are barely discernable when contrasted to vast stretches of water and wilderness below.

As the plane swings away from the dam over the area formerly known as Onayville a disc of silver may be seen on the horizon, this the pilot informs us is Lake Chautauqua. Returning over Scandia the familiar barn roofs, farms and Matchbox toy cars reappear. Soon the pilot circles the air park which looks mighty small from above, but soon is enlarged to a more than sufficient runway which is only half needed as your earthbound perspective returns when the plane gently sets down on the green field and the miracle of flight is temporarily over. It is little wonder that when man is asked if he could return to earth, but not as a human, what creature would he most like to be and he replies often, he would select to be borne upon the air with the wings of a bird.

The experience is exhilarating and thought provoking, but it is not a dream as it is an experience which can be shared by anyone who desires to take advantage of one of Beach's flights.

THE STAGE IS SET — A new attraction in the Scandia area this year is the Plowright Playhouse. The barn has been converted into an elegant and comfortable area for the production of plays. The stage is set for a performance.

set preparations for the current production of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" Summer Theatre has a bill of five plays this year plus some talent nights. It attracts a large number of spectators.

FLOWRIGHT PLAYHOUSE

There's Theater, Too

BY CLYDE RICE

While Joe Plowright is not new to the Scandia area, his new summer theater, Plowright Playhouse is.

Through the energetic efforts of a dedicated group who envisioned the rustic playhouse, the theater opened its first official season June 28 and has since presented two plays with the third now running through August 6.

Warren Summer Theatre Inc. purchased not only the handsome barn in which the plays are held, but a 12-room house and 75 rolling acres in the very heart of the recreation area around Kinzua Dam and reservoir and four miles from the Roper Hollow boat launching ramp.

Because the barn needed a new roof and many repairs—and because the idea of a summer theater appealed to Joe Plowright, the group does not have to make a payment of any kind on the property until its second season is completed in 1968.

The important aspect of Plowright Playhouse is the opportunity it is giving young people in the area to be apprentices or members of the acting company.

An unusual number of Warren young people have gone on to achieve success in the entertainment field and the group expects, through them and their connections, to bring in well known artists from time to time.

Warren Summer Theatre is incorporated as a non-profit group with an acting board and advisory committee with as genuine interest in the cultural improvement of the area, especially in promoting good theater.

With the cooperation of about 100 volunteers, Plowright Playhouse is a dedicated group of people who the majority who attend the performance are from the immediate area, the visiting here or camping in the various beauty spots are also enjoying the fine entertainment provided.

Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" is currently running with curtain time at 8:30 p.m. except Mondays and Thursdays.

August 9-20 features "Two For the Seesaw" by William Gibson, a sophisticated love story with "Madwoman of Chaillet," by Jean Giraudoux scheduled August 23-Sept. 3, when the season closes.

The first three productions have been claimed as smash hits by local reviewers.

By REV. JOHN CARTER
Roman Catholic Priest

As Christians, we have learned or should have learned to see Christ in everything about us. If only we knew how to look at life and the world, everything would become a sign of God and His love for us and His call to us to serve Him.

As we drive along the highway during these summer days we see so many bill-boards advertising so many different things. Let us see if we can find Christ and His message through these.

BILL-BOARDS! They are loud
I cannot avoid them, for they crowd together on the roads and streets, alluring and tempting. Their violent color hurts my eyes
And I cannot rid myself of their distasteful presence.

Lord, in the same way too often I draw attention to myself.
Grant that I may be more humble
And above all, keep me from trying to impress others through showy display.

I do not want to be a bill-board for myself
For it is You only, Lord, that must draw all men.

You see this is what Christ was trying to say to us in Matthew 5:14-16, "You are the light of the world. A city on a mountain top cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle and put it under a bushel basket, but on a candle stick, that it may shine to all in the house. So let your light shine before men that they may see your good works and G L O R I F Y YOUR FATHER WHO IS IN HEAVEN."

Yes, we as Christians must live and act for Christ. Not for self-praise, not for the attention of the world do we act, but for the glory of God. If Christians would so do, the command of Christ to "go and preach the Gospel to every creature" could be fulfilled. Christ would not give an impossible command and all Christians must act and help fulfill this in His name.

Free Methodist Camp Meeting In Pleasantville

The Free Methodist Camp Meeting at Pleasantville reports higher attendance than usual. Frank Hendrickson, Youngsville, is in charge of the dining hall and reports that 50 more campers per meal are being served than in previous years.

The Reverend Robert Williams, Youngsville, is in charge of room rentals. Housing accommodations include five dormitories with a total of 77 rooms, all rented, 60 privately owned cottages, three tents and three house trailers. Seventy-one years ago, when the first camp was held, tents were used to house the people and the services were held in the open. There are now three tabernacles to provide for the worship services.

Each day, three services are held in the main tabernacle at 10:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The Reverend J. Clyde Flewelling of Grand Lodge, Michigan, speaks in the mornings and evenings, and the Reverend Larry Evoy of Oxford, Michigan, speaks in the afternoons. A youth tabernacle provides for the morning youth service and an afternoon missionary institute. The children's tabernacle houses the Bible school and the children's missionary institute. A male quartet from Roberts Wesleyan College sings in the Sunday

Hints From Heloise

DEAR FOLKS:

If you have outdoor picnic or patio tables . . .

I had a hang-up idea while washing off our table last week-end.

I covered both table and benches with a big piece of heavy plastic when we were through using them. This can either be tied with strong cord or weighted down with rocks or some of those house plants which need sunshine.

Covering the table with plastic saves lots of cleaning time which is most important. Time is the most valuable thing we have and energy comes next.

So if you've got an old tarpaulin, drop cloth or raincoat, dig 'em out and use 'em. Worn raincoats can be cut down.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE

Instead of freezing a whole cut-up dressed chicken and having to wait for it all to thaw to pull apart I spread the unfrozen pieces out on a cookie sheet

Then place the cookie sheet in the freezing compartment until the chicken is frozen solid. Remove the pieces and drop them into a plastic bag and place it back in the freezer until ready to use.

I can just reach in the bag and take out any number of pieces I like and leave the rest frozen.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE

Here's a thought for all those depressed housewives who can't seem to catch up with their housework.

This house is clean enough to be healthy and dirty enough to be happy.

Marge

DEAR HELOISE

We make many short week-end car trips.

For these trips I usually pack a week-end case a train case and a carton containing all our swimming gear.

I spread the luggage out in the car trunk but I leave my

Manelick-Prowitt Vows Exchanged In Russell

Miss Deborah Lee Manelick, daughter of Nick Manelick, 9 Pine St., Russell, became the bride of William Ellsworth Prowitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Prowitt Sr., of Liberty St., Russell, at 2 p.m. July 15, 1967 in the Russell Methodist Church. The Reverend Arthur Hummel performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride wore a white A-line dress and yellow rose corsage. Mrs. Rhody Hotaling was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a yellow dress and white rose corsage. Rhody Hotaling, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man.

The groom's mother was attired in a two piece gold knit dress with a corsage of white rosebuds. Mrs. Metro Manelick, the bride's grandmother, and the groom's grandmother were both favored with corsages of white carnations.

A reception for 20 guests was held at the home of the groom's parents following the ceremony. For traveling to Tampa, Florida, the bride wore a pink cotton two-piece dress. Pre-nuptial parties were given for the bride by Mrs. Rhody Hotaling and fellow employees at Sylva.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Eisenhower High School and is now employed at Sylva.

The groom is a 1964 graduate of Eisenhower High School and is now stationed with the United States Navy at New London, Conn. The groom will be returning to New London until September when he will have completed his enlistment obligation.

WOTM OFFICER INSTALLATION

Officers Installed At WOTM

Senior Regent Yvonne Lee conducted the regular meeting of WOTM Warren Chapter No. 693 on Wednesday, July 26. Minutes of the previous meeting and committee reports were read, and balloting was held. At the close of the business meeting, friends and relatives were admitted to the lodge room to view the installation ceremony of the Women of the Moose officers for the coming year.

Officers installed were (left to right, seated): Yvonne Lee, junior graduate regent, Joyce Bell, senior regent, Ida Wenzel, junior regent, and Ann Colter, chaplain; (standing, same order) Mabel Mattson, installing chaplain, Laota Minnich, installing guide, Patricia Moore, assistant guide, Doris Bondi, guide, Joyce Watson, treasurer, Carrie Maeder, recorder, Mary Kostyal, sentinel, Alice Coy, argus, Gertrude Stites, installing regent, and Anne Simmons, installing chairman.

Installing pianist for the ceremony was Gifford Clark, governor, Lodge No. 109. Gifts were presented to the past and newly installed senior regents and to the installing officers. Installation chairman, Anne Simmons, and her committee served refreshments to those present at the close of the ceremony.

TIGER TUSSELE

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Sgt. John E. Samples of the Lake County Marine Reservists, says tigers in Vietnam are a problem for VC Charlie or GI Joe.

A tiger stalked a Marine and the confrontation was so sudden tiger and Marine were eyeball to eyeball before one was aware of the other.

"All I could do was punch the tiger in the nose," the Marine said.

Fred Waring to Appear In Warren October 18th

The Warren Concert Association will celebrate its 20th anniversary season this fall with an appearance of Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians on Wednesday night, October 18 in the Warren High School auditorium. Harry A. Summers, association president, said that the Waring show will open the 1967-1968 season for members of the annual series which will also is now in the mails to all of last season's members giving them first chance to renew their series memberships. When the public campaign opens in September, any memberships not renewed will be made available to new members.

No single admission tickets are ever sold to concerts of the local association.

Concert leaders hope that a great majority of current members will renew their memberships by mail in the next few weeks since it reduces the number of personal contacts which volunteers will make between September 13 and 22, the campaign dates.

For the past five years the association has enjoyed a sold-out membership filling the capacity of the auditorium. With Fred Waring as the first concert, they expect a heavy demand for memberships for the coming season.

The Waring show this fall is titled "The Next Fifty Years" since the famous musician last year completed fifty years in show business.

Only recently, after half a century of performing, Waring was voted the nation's number one concert attraction.

The Pennsylvanians were the rage of the post-World War I collegiate era; they made some of the first and best of the Hollywood's musical sound films; they introduced historic techniques and original performing ideas to network radio in the 30's and early 40's; they produced recordings that have become classics, unequalled in choral beauty; they presented to America's TV viewers the first of the music spectaculars.

The appearance of Fred Waring in Warren this fall promises an exciting evening for members of the Concert Association.

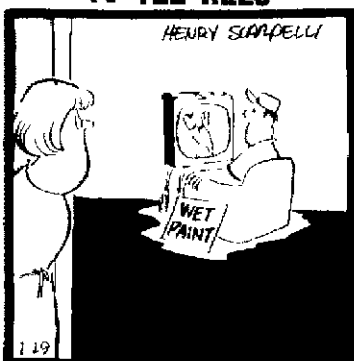

In a tape recording to be sealed in a cornerstone for a new Chicago building, Sen. Everett Dirksen predicts a four-hour week day, four days a week. Don't get excited, the senator's only guessing, not promising.

That 16-hour work week sounds great, though the world may have to wait for it until, as the senator suggests, the year 2067.

Dirksen also foresees people wearing throw-away clothes by 2067. Wonder if they'll call that era the Strip-Tease Age?

Speaking of time capsules—one, buried in Hartford, Conn., in 1886, was recently opened and found to contain criticisms of a number of aspects of those times. Well, that's the best thing to do with gripes — bury 'em and forget 'em.

Today, we ask new readers to join this nationwide newspaper TV survey and vote on the subject of commercials. We cannot ballot individual commercials; there are too many. But we can vote on the spacing of commercials. (Lengths are regulated and are roughly 10 minutes per evening hour and 16 minutes per daytime hour.) The question is: When should we be interrupted for them? Please carefully study today's ballot box to select when you would prefer to have commercials placed during your TV evening entertainment.

READER'S SPEAK

Dear TV: A suggestion about commercials: I wish they wouldn't keep interrupting every 10 or 15 minutes. The Telephone Hour put theirs at the end of the program. I enjoy the program more and get more out of it than ever before. — John Fulgenzio, Girard, Pa.

Dear TV: Even commercials are re-runs over and over until they are oversold. — Mrs. John Gerrity, Scranton, Pa.

Dear TV: Our real gripe is the silly and aggravating forms of commercials which break the continuity of the picture. We will not buy any article advertised on them. — R. W. Bartsch, Clermont, Fla.

Dear TV: Why can't commercials, especially for women, be a little more mature? The present ones are nauseating. — Mrs. Ted Bumpas, Mexia, Tex.

Dear TV: Recently someone wrote they thought the "Pie Eating" commercial was disgusting. Well, I think it is amusing. There are good shows and good commercials! — J. H. Columbus, Ga.

Dear TV: I hope this voting by the general public will do some good when it reaches the top bosses. It will be interesting to see if it gets us anywhere. They say you can't fight City Hall. I think it is time the public made themselves heard. — Leshe Dewey, Simsbury, Conn.

HOW WOULD YOU SPACE TV COMMERCIALS?

Circle one choice (for evening hours):

- 5 MINUTES AFTER EACH HALF HOUR.
- 10 MINUTES AFTER THE PROGRAM.
- 2½ MINUTES EVERY 15 MINUTES.
- 1½ MINUTES EVERY 10 MINUTES.

Clip box and mail promptly to TOP VIEW, P.O. Box 163, North Branford, Conn. 06171

TE LA DI O

By Lenore McIntyre--TV Editor
WEEK'S PREVIEW

If you are looking for something new, different and special don't even go near your TV set this week. However, if you missed the Khrushchev special televised after the late-running all-star baseball game on July 11, make a point to watch it Monday night at 8:00 on Chs. 2, 6, and 12. The most severe critics have lauded it highly. ABC is repeating a special Thursday night on Ch. 7. It has to do with the problems in the nursing profession and is titled "Nurses: Crisis in Medicine." If you are a sports fan and survive the week away from TV you have a treat in store Friday night when ABC televises the annual college all-star football game on Chs. 6 and 7. The Green Bay Packers will dish it out to the team composed of college all-stars.

SEASON PEEKS

Carol Burnett, one of the most gifted and versatile names in show business, will star in a new, full-hour comedy, variety and music series on CBS-TV starting Monday, Sept. 11.

Harvey Korman and Lule Waggoner will be Miss Burnett's leading men, appearing as comedy foils on the weekly program. Korman is the versatile comic who was a regular on the Danny Kaye Show for the past four years. Waggoner, who also will be the on-camera announcer for the series, is a handsome, young acting newcomer currently under contract to 20th Century Fox.

NBC-TV will have an interesting Friday night come the new season. This is the night set aside for NBC News Specials and the Bell Telephone Hour programs. Bell Tel will have 14 programs this season, twelve on Friday evenings and the Christmas and Easter specials on Sundays.

Among the programs set for this year are a musical portrait of the city of Chicago, a Bach program from the Bach Bethlehem Festival in Bethlehem, Pa., a portrait of conductor Zubin Mehta, an hour visit with noted violinist Joseph Fuchs, a portrait of ballet dancer Edward Villella of the New York City Ballet, and a program of operatic groups titled "Duets to Sextets."

Among the NBC News specials will be eight programs under the series title "American Profile." Among the themes will be disappearing wildlife in the U.S., the National Art Gallery in Washington, D.C., Canada, The Forgotten Peninsula (Mexico's Baja California), country and western music.

Unfortunately, ABC gives out very little advance publicity concerning its new season entries. It has scheduled "The Legend of Custer" for the Wednesday night lead-off slot. It will star Wayne Maunier as General Custer and one would presume this series involves the U.S. Cavalry and the war with the Indians.

NBC-TV MOVIES

In its second season on NBC-TV, "World Premiere," a series of two-hour color motion pictures will be shown on selected dates in the Tuesday and Saturday Nights at the Movies time periods. Among the most popular of last season's offerings were "Fame is the Name of the Game," "Doomsday Flight," and "The Longest Hundred Miles."

Among the films scheduled for this coming season's World Premiere are "Shadow Over Elyson," with James Franciscus and Shirley Knight; "The Smugglers," Shirley Booth, Kurt Kasznar, Carol Lynley;

"Outsider," Darren McGavin, Shirley Knight; "Breakout," James Drury, Kathryn Hays, Red Buttons; "Jigsaw," Harry Guardino, Bradford Dillman, Diana Hyland; plus many others.

Major feature films from the top studios will be presented as Tuesday and Saturday night movies. Some of the pictures and stars are: "Pint Panther," Peter Sellers, David Niven; Hitchcock's "The Birds"; "Hard Day's Night," the Beatles; "What a Way to Go," Shirley MacLaine, Dean Martin; "Strange Bedfellows," Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida; "The Thrill of It All," Doris Day, James Garner; "Bedtime Story," Marlon Brando, Shirley Jones; "Never on Sunday," Melina Mercouri; "Send Me No Flowers," Rock Hudson, Doris Day; "Invitation to a Gunfight," Yul Brynner; "Fun in Acapulco," Elvis Presley, Ursula Andress; "Second Time Around," Debbie Reynolds, Andy Griffith; "Cinderella" and "The Errand Boy," Jerry Lewis; and Hitchcock's "Marnie" with Sean Connery.

PEOPLE & PROGRAMS

CARMEN LOMBARDO will make his first TV appearance as a vocalist in 15 years on the "Tonight Show with Johnny Carson" next Tuesday night, Aug. 1. For the appearance, Carmen will be backed up by his brother Guy and the full Royal Canadian orchestra.

WORLD SERIES OF GOLF, with the champions of the world's four major tournaments, will be televised on NBC-TV Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10. Competing will be Jack Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Open; Gay Brewer, the Masters winner; Don January, the PGA; and Robert DeVicenzo, the British Open.

JEROME P. CAVANAUGH, Mayor of riot-torn Detroit, will be the interview guest on Meet the Press this Sunday, July 30.

THREE BUFFALO BILLS PRE-SEASON football games will be covered by Ch. 7 in August. The first game is Buffalo Bills vs. Miami Dolphins, Aug. 5.

FIVE NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE pre-season games will be televised on CBS-TV during the next two months. They are: Chicago bears vs. Washington Redskins, Aug. 9; Baltimore Colts vs. St. Louis Cards, Aug. 21; Green Bay Packers vs. Dallas Cowboys, Aug. 28; Green Bay Packers vs. Cleveland Browns, Sept. 2; and Cleveland Browns vs. Minnesota Vikings, Sept. 10.

MOVIE 4 TONIGHT aptly describes WHEN-TV, Ch. 4, Buffalo's Thursday night schedule for this coming season. Ch. 4 will offer a triple-feature evening every Thursday night, starting with a local movie offering at 7-9 p.m., followed by the CBS Thursday Night Movie at 9-11 p.m., and concluding with p.m.

DOES YOUR TV LEAK?

As of July 21 the U.S. Public Health Service announced that about 9,000 GE TV sets which may be leaking "excessive amount of X-radiation" have not been located despite intensive search by GE.

The receivers in question are large screen consoles and table models sold between Sept. 1, 1966 and May 31, 1967. After 112,000 receivers were distributed to dealers and customers the company discovered the shunt regulator tube was leaking x-rays downward.

Surgeon General William H. Stewart asked TV owners who may have uncorrected sets to disconnect them immediately and notify a GE dealer or service agency.

Your Horoscope By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1967
ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—If there is no guide or directive, be careful not to act impulsively on new projects. Appraise values warily. This day can be a challenge to the Aries' innate ingenuity.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Be careful in business matters, conferences, dealings with others generally, but do avoid anxiety, tension. Take all unexpected situations in stride.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—A better outlook than you may think at first. Look to your own fine talents and know-how for the uniform progress you desire. Those in the writing professions especially favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Mixed influences. You may be faced with some annoyances but, on the other hand, with many pleasant offerings. If any of your plans have been stymied lately, THIS is the time to try again! Imagination and originality stimulated now.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—As with Cancer, you may encounter some irritating situations now — even strong opposition. Take both in stride. Avoid a present tendency toward jealousy.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—What you normally do may not be THE thing now. A favorable activity or pastime may have to be bypassed. Meet eventualities with perception and poise.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Some expansion indicated; retrenching needed in other areas. YOU be the judge—with the Libran's extraordinary sagacity. Personal relationships highly favored.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—Mars now stimulates you and your interests. Sharpen up that good humor of yours, and you can cope with any situation. You are quick, eager, enthusiastic! Stress these traits, too.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Do not judge the actions of others lightly, and don't jump to hasty conclusions. Study all factors carefully. Some unusual opportunities in the offing.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Be prepared for competition, opponents to cause you spouse. If aware that these exist, you can start with the premise that they CAN be managed—and by YOU!

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Some interesting situations indicated, but certain tedious matters will require attention nonetheless. Relieve the monotony of the latter with one of the ingenious "twists," at which the Aquarian is so adept.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—You may need more energy in certain situations, so SUPPLY IT! It is as simple as that. Some trends changing, do not move too quickly.

YOU BORN TODAY are well-endowed mentally; often achieve physically as well as, for instance, in the world of sports; can attain in almost anything in which you are really interested. Yours is a Sign of vibrance and magnanimity, and it also endows you with great strength of will, determination, idealism, enthusiasm, keen intuition and foresight. Your personality is dynamic, fits you for leadership in many fields, but you must curb a tendency to be overbearing with others. Birthdate of Booth Tarkington, novelist; Dag Hammarskjöld, Swed, statesman.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries are not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

MINOCQUA RESCUE TEAM

When Dr. Joseph D. Farrington, a Chicago orthopedic surgeon, moved to Wisconsin, it was Chicago's loss and Minocqua's gain. Doctors Farrington, Sam W. Banks and others had just finished their fourth course in rescue techniques at the Chicago Fire Academy. Both were members of the Chicago Committee on Trauma of the American College of Surgeons.

For five years they trained nonmedical personnel such as policemen, firemen, and ambulance attendants in rescue procedures. Most of the problems centered about automobile accidents and the proper way to extricate the injured and get them to the hospital safely.

Minocqua is a typical resort area. It has a population of 2,000 in the winter and 30,000 in the summer. As the tourists arrive, highway accidents increase. In 1966, the town used a privately-owned hearse as its ambulance and had no standard rescue techniques or trained attendants.

The Committee on Trauma had been working for years on recommendations and rescue standards. In Minocqua, Farrington put them to the test. Proper rescue techniques involve removal of victims in any circumstances. Physicians trained crews in resuscitation, splinting, bandaging, and extrication. To attain perfection, the teams practiced on pseudo victims in cars salvaged from wrecks.

Minocqua's rescue equipment has been selected carefully. Extricating an unconscious man who may have a spinal injury from between the front and rear seats of a smashed car turned over in a ditch at midnight on a narrow country road is not easy. Does your community have the proper equipment and know how to use it?

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Sunlight Allergy.
FLATULENCE

A. B. L. writes: Can nervousness cause excess gas in the stomach and cramping in the abdomen?
REPLY

Yes. The stomach and intestines often are the fall guys when the emotions are involved. If business goes wrong, one person may have butterflies in the stomach; another will develop ulcer or colitis.

ICEBOX RAIDER

V.S. writes: Unless I eat before going to bed I wake up about 1 a.m. with hunger pangs. Have you any explanation for this occurrence?
REPLY

Your intestinal tract may be geared to this feeding schedule. Other patients are bothered in this fashion because of peptic ulcer or low blood sugar.

DEFECTIVE BLADDER

F. G. writes: What causes a collapsed bladder?
REPLY

A collapsed bladder is an empty bladder. I presume you refer to a cystocele, in which bladder protrusion occurs when the organ is damaged during childbirth. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this condition.
BAY WINDOW

W. R. T. writes: Can anything be done for a pot belly in an 80-year-old man? I had a slight bay window when I retired but did not realize the truth until we moved into a new apartment with bathroom mirrors. That really shook me.
REPLY

Me, too!
UNRELATED CONDITIONS

B. G. W. writes: Is there any connection between the menopause and Meniere's disease?
REPLY

No, except that they both start with M.

LBJ GREET'S WARRENITE'S GRANDSON

President Lyndon B. Johnson, shortly before his own grandson was born, got the feel of the situation when he landed June 16 at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin, Texas. In the top photo the president made immediate friends with Arthur J. O'Connor IV. The young man is the grandson of Dr. Arthur J. O'Connor, of 18 Conewango ave.,

Warren and son of Capt. Arthur J. O'Connor III, who is stationed at Bergstrom with the medical corps. Young Art is two and a half months old and not at all shy. The people pleasing pictures will make a fine addition to a scrapbook and one of these days, the fourth Arthur will appreciate the significance of the big occasion.
